Breakers—Trains Still Watched.

Because his son is out of jail on $1,000 bond upon a charge filed against him at Scottdale, Pa., Dennis De Haven, formerly a restaurant keeper in that town, came to Wellsville yesterday to get his son Charles, aged 20
years.

The young man came to the Wells-ville mill Wednesday afternoon on a special train. It was reported that a Pennsylvania detective accompanied young De Haven, but he denied this.
Son and father returned home on the noon train today, accompanied by John Webb, another youth who took in the excursion with De Haven.

The senior De Haven and Manager
Brookman had quite a heated conversation before young De Haven was taken from the mill.

"I am quite sure the mill men of Scottdale will be organized. Much secret work is being done among the men, which is not known to the management. The mill will eventually be a union plant," said De Haven, the father.

At noon today Deputy Organizer Evans said: "De Haven and Webb have just joined the union and have their union cards. All members of the local here are employed, with the exception of 15 men. The membership is 136, and the lodge is but a month old.
We have money in the treasury and can make a better showing than many other lodges."

Word was sent to the officials here
last evening that several firms of East Liverpool, had offered 3 per cent of their weekly receipts to the Wellsville lodge as long as the strike lasted. Official recognition of the offer will be taken at a special meeting of the lodge to be held tonight.

Vice President John Chappell arrived in Wellsville this morning from Pittsburg on his way to New Castle.
He canvassed the strike situation
here with Organizers Evans and Griffiths, and said he was more than gratified with the strides of the Wellsville lodge. He left for his home at New Castle this afternoon.

Mrs. Harry Phillips this morning said to a reporter that Daniel Fisher
and William Parker had offered William Thomas, a heater at the mill,
who has been at her home, $50 and expenses to return to his home near Scottdale. Amalgamated officials denied the statement. Messrs. Parker and Fisher could not be found. Thomas, it is said, is teaching men in the mill the "art" of heating.

No more meals are being set over the mill fence by Mrs. Phillips, the last having been set over on Wednesday.

Nora Wane, a cook who had been employed by Mrs Phillips, has been induced to leave her position. She was formerly employed in a pottery

and has been a member of the local for over a year.

Deputy Organizer Evans this morning said that Congressman R. W.
Taylor yesterday afternoon consented to being retained to defend the Amalgamated men who are out on bail.
The list of witnesses in these cases has not been prepared, but they will be selected for the plaintiff by Harry Phillips.

The same number of mills are being worked today as early in the week.
Some new men are expected today
and all trains are being closely watched by the pickets.

of the Amalgamated; secretary, Cyrus Powell, of the grocery clerks; inspector, Blaine Roberts, of the painters; financial secretary, J. Sease, of the Amalgamated; sergeant-at-arms, Clarence Hunter, of the painters; trustees, John Donnelly, Amalgamated;

grocers.

A meeting will be held Saturday evening in Potters' hall when various committees will be appointed and plans for future meetings arranged.

Have Been Accorded a Nine-Hour Day.

The demand of the gilders at the K.
T. & K. pottery for a nine-hour day
has been granted, and the new regulation takes effect at once.

The demand was made last week,
and time was granted for a consideration of the proposition. The day asked was from 7:30 to 5:30. Allowing one hour for dinner, this would make the full nine hours. No trouble was experienced in having the demand granted.

Pittsburg, August 9. — Detective
John Roach ended the Wheeling mystery of Myrtle Yost's whereabouts last night by arresting the girl and Jose-

where she had been since Sunday last.

The two men, John Cline, said to be married, and Clayton Rodgers, are in the Wheeling jail on a charge of abduction and attempted murder.

VETERANS' REUNION

AN ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

The seventeenth annual reunion of
the Civil war veterans of Company
F, Forty-sixth Pennsylvania volunteers, was held today at the home of
N. A. Frederick, on Robinson street.
Eighteen members of the company
were in attendance, the names of
whom follow:

B. W. Morgan, Thomas Matthews,
N. A. Frederick, William Duncan,
Peter Bartz, Charles Shankle, James
Boyle, J. B. McKibbens, James R.
Todd, Matthew Nelson, James Sea-
right, W. E. Scott, Benjamin Dawes,
Cyrus Shade, J. A. Clifton, James Ew-
ing, James L. Lloyd, Samuel Sea-
right and Presley Dunwood.

A number of others belonging to
the same regiment were present, including a drum corps composed of veterans of Company B, with James
as the leader. Previous to the beginning of the business session this
noon the musicians played a

number of old-time selections which
were enjoyed in the fullest measure
by the old soldiers.

The assemblage held the business
meeting on the spacious lawn at the Frederick home and every possible
effort was made to make the reunion
a memorable one. Only 46 members of Company F are living out of a total enlistment of 216. It has for the past 17 years been the custom of the surviving members of the company
to meet each year and all look forward to the event with pleasant anticipations. A greater part of the day was devoted to "fighting over"
the battles which the regiment took part in, and as the drum corps' strains
were listened to by the old veterans,
the dark days of the rebellion were
vividly recalled to view.

It was late in the afternoon when
the business session was called to order. The election of officers was an important feature of the meeting.

STRIPPED BRASS FROM ENGINES

Thieves Committed Two Bold Robberies Near Chester and Georgetown.

DAMAGE WILL BE LARGE

Aside From the Value of the Material Stolen—A Traction Engine And Saw Mill Machinery Despoiled.
No Clue to the Pilferers' Identity.

Thieves, whose identity has not been learned, but who evidently have more bravery about them than the average pilferer, stripped the brass fixings from a traction engine owned by Mader Brothers, which was in a shed on the Mader farm, east of Rock Springs park, and also stole all the brass from another engine in Mader Brothers' saw mill near Georgetown.

The robbery occurred Wednesday night and was not discovered until yesterday. In addition to making away with all the brass on the saw mill engine the thieves stole the whistle on the boiler and also took the brass fittings on the water gauges.

After making away with all of the brass to be found in the mill the de-predators went to the pumping station in the oil field near Georgetown,
where they broke the lock on the engine house door and with the aid of a heavy hammer, knocked off the different brass parts of the engine, completely demolishing it.

Albert Mader, one of the owners of the traction and saw mill engines, reported the robbery to the Hancock county authorities, but as yet there have been no arrests. The loss to the Mader brothers amounts to more than $100, while the loss to the owners of the demolished engine at the Georgetown pumping station will be almost double.

A SPECIAL FROM SEBRING

Will Bring a Large Delegation to the Labor Day Celebration.

A letter has been received from the secretary of the committee of arrangements at Sebring, stating that preparations are being made to run
a special train from that town to East Liverpool on Labor day. It is likely the special will be run over the Ft. Wayne, by way of Rochester, in order to take in the crowds at Salem, East Palestine and other points.

The potters at Sebring are all wearing white ribbons as an indication of sympathy for the Amalgamated strikers.

ST. GEORGE'S SONS WILL ASSEMBLE

Annual Convention For Three States to Be Held Here
August 20-22.

BIG RECEPTION PLANNED

Aside From the Business Meetings,
There Will Be Athletic Sports at
Rock Springs Park And Also a Banquet—Noted Speakers.

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday,
Aug. 20, 21 and 22, will be held in this
city the thirteenth annual convention
of the Ohio district, Sons of St.
George, composed of lodges in Ohio,
West Virginia and Indiana.

Almost all the delegates are expected to arrive on Monday, and in the
evening a reception will be tendered
the visitors at the rooms of the local
lodge. Mayor W. C. Davidson and
Rev. E. Weary, rector of St. Stephen's
church, will welcome the delegates,
and it has been arranged to have
State President Andrew Lawton, of Youngstown, and others to respond.
At the conclusion of the reception a
fine luncheon will be served, the entire ceremony being confined strictly
to the members of the order.

Tuesday morning the regular business sessions will begin, and the entire day and part of Wednesday will
be devoted to the affairs of the convention. A session will be held Wednesday morning, but in the afternoon
and evening the local committee has
made preparations for an outing at Rock Springs park. Athletic sports
and contests of every description will
be indulged in, the entries for the various events being restricted to members of the order of St. George of this city and Pittsburg.

On Wednesday evening an elaborate banquet has been arranged for.
The committee in charge of this portion of the work have spared neither
time nor expense to make this one of the leading society events of the season.

The banquet tables will be spread in
the commodious pavilion, and the affair will be enjoyed by the members of the order and their ladies. Mayor
Davidson and wife and the representatives of the local press have been invited to be present. Addresses will be made by Judge J. Henry Williams,
of Philadelphia; Supreme Secretary J.
R. Angier, of Akron; State Secretary
Frederick Stork, Akron, and Rev. E.
V. Shaylor, of Chicago. Rock Springs
park will be in the exclusive charge of the Sons of St. George both afternoon
and evening.

It is thought it will be necessary
to hold a session of the convention
on Thursday morning, in order to wind up the business of the meeting.

TEST OF CONSTANCY

Wealthy Akron Woman Names a Trustee for Her Property
Before Marrying.

Akron, August 9.—Daniel Clifford
Adams, a young traveling salesman of
New York, met Miss Suza Woods, of
this city, on the street some months
ago. It was a case of love at first sight. Miss Woods is an orphan and heirless to $25,000. Relatives opposed her marriage. The girl is of age. Attorney George Koehler, a friend of
her relatives, suggested a way out.
He proposed that Miss Woods turn over all her property to him, as trustee, to remain in his possession three
years.

If at the end of that period she still
thought the match was one of the heart and that Adams had not married her because of her fortune she
was to receive back all that she had turned over to the lawyer. The young couple agreed to this, the necessary
papers were drawn up and the marriage was performed yesterday.

LOCAL RED MEN

Will Hold a Meeting of Much Interest
And Importance
Tuesday.

The local tribe, Improved Order of
Red Men, will hold a meeting of un-

FIGHTS AND DISORDERLY SCENES AMONG THE COLORED VISITORS

usual importance next Thursday evening at their hall.

The Haymakers' degree will be conferred upon 16 of the local redskins, and a very interesting meeting
is anticipated. Great Chief of Records Thomas J. Irwin, of Martin's Ferry, will confer the degree, which is
one of the most important in connection with the order.

Following the degree work a stag
banquet will be held in the hall.
Toasts will be responded to by a number of those present. The remainder of the evening will be devoted to feasting. The meeting will doubtless be well attended.

THE TRAP IS HERE

SHOOTERS WILL SOON HAVE
GROUNDS AND CLUB HOUSE.

Contract Let for the Building, Which
Will Be Completed in a Short Time.

The new Magatrap was received
by the East Liverpool gun club yesterday and was set up by Secretary
Yant. The apparatus is now on exhibition in the window of the Milligan hardware store.

It is proposed by the club to have
the trap taken to the grounds, a lease
for which has already been taken out,
by next week. The general custom,
and the one which will likely be adopted by the local organization, is
to have a walk or platform erected
in a semi-circle 50 yards from the
center at a given point on every side.
The trap will be erected after the
excavation has been made and a roof
or shanty built about the machine.
When it is complete the roof of the
enclosure containing the trap is all
that would be visible to the shooter.
The trap is fed automatically, and a
bird cannot be released until the
"puller" makes the trip. But one
blue rock is released at a time, and
then only after the shooter has given
the word. The position of the shooter
varies according to the number of shots allotted to him. As a rule he is given the three positions, one at
the extreme end of the platform, another in the center, and again at the opposite end, allowing him an equal
number of shots from each point.

It is recommended that the blue
rocks not be thrown more than 50
yards, and in order to regulate this,
stakes at intervals of six yards are
driven at points in front of the trap.
The trapper is cautioned to not throw
beyond them.

The executive board of the club has closed the deal with C. Nease for the erection of the club house. The building will be 12x22, and work upon
its erection will be started Monday.
It is thought that it can be completed next week.

A shoot will probably be held next
Thursday evening.

HELD A LAWN FETE

The "Jolly Nine" Had a Splendid
Time in the West End.

The "Jolly Nine," of the West End,
held a lawn fete last night in Crox-
all's field, which was on the most enjoyable events that has taken place
in that vicinity this summer. The grounds were brilliantly illuminated
and the young people who took part
in the festivities were attractively
costumed in suits made expressly for
the occasion.

Each of the shirt waists worn by
the ladies differed in color, and the
scene presented was almost dazzling
to the eye. All had a splendid time.

POTATO MASHER USED

IN A HOT ARGUMENT

Willis McCullough and Dell McEl-
way, both colored, had a row at the Lakel yesterday which will result in
both being fined.

McCullough is head cook and has
a desire to impress every one with
his importance and superior knowledge at all times. McElway argued
with him yesterday that it was nearer,
by way of the C. & P., to Pittsburg
than on the Panhandle through New Cumberland Junction. McCullough
became angry, and taking a potato
masher, proceeded to administer a thumping to his antagonist, who is a mere boy. He beat the youngster on

Park Management Announces That
This Is The Last Colored Picnic.

Greatly owing to the good judgment
of Mayor Davidson in providing proper police protection yesterday, no serious trouble came about as the result
of the colored picnickers from Pittsburg. As on the occasion of the Av-
ory mission excursionists' visit here a few weeks ago, there was with the
picnickers yesterday a crowd of
toughs, whose presence was for the purpose of hunting trouble, and
though several of them succeeded
in finding it, no serious fights occurred.

Second street was the headquarters
for the tough element, and a party of
colored women are said to have furnished rare entertainment for their
male companions in the back rooms
of some of the "Smoky Row" saloons.
Little disorder took place at the park,
as the better element of the excursion-
ists went there immediately on their arrival in this city and remained until it was time for their returning
train.

One small fight occurred in an up-
town barroom, but with the aid of a
hickory "pursuader," the proprietor
quieted the belligerents before either
was much hurt. An ex-prize fighter
named Fields tried to start a row in
the alley near Burns & McQuilkin's
livery stable, but his female escort induced him to make his presence
scarce just before an officer reached
the scene.

There were but few of the tough
characters who did not get well
"bowled up" before leaving the city,
and many of the women had to be assisted to the train. A heavy set girl named "Maud," who is said to have formerly resided in East Liverpool, attempted to kick a window light
out of a passenger coach as the excu-
sion train was pulling into the depot,
and fell on the back of her neck.

A preacher who was in the crowd
tried to preserve order at the depot,
but had his hands full. However,
there was no unusual disorder otherwise than loud and boisterous talking.

Soon after dark a fight was started
in a Second street saloon which bade
fair to branch out into a general free-
for-all slugging match. Officer Stafford and Special Officer Salsberry
were on the scene in short order and
arrested the fellow who had started
the difficulty. He was taken to jail
in the patrol, where he gave his name
as being Albert Brooks. His home is in Pittsburg.

Later in the evening Salsberry
again made his way into the saloon
where the fight had occurred, and
while making an effort to quiet a disturbance, one of the negroes who
was standing at the bar interfered
with him. The officer took hold of the
fellow and attempted to take him
from the saloon, when he was surrounded by a gang of the negro's confederates.

Drawing his club, Salsberry struck

ST. GEORGE'S SONS WILL ASSEMBLE

States to Be Held Here
August 20-22.

BIG RECEPTION PLANNED

Aside From the Business Meetings,
There Will Be Athletic Sports at
Rock Springs Park And Also a Banquet—Noted Speakers.

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday,
Aug. 20, 21 and 22, will be held in this
city the thirteenth annual convention
of the Ohio district, Sons of St.
George, composed of lodges in Ohio,
West Virginia and Indiana.

Almost all the delegates are expect-
ed to arrive on Monday, and in the
evening a reception will be tendered
lodge. Mayor W. C. Davidson and
Rev. E. Weary, rector of St. Stephen's
church, will welcome the delegates,
and it has been arranged to have
State President Andrew Lawton, of Youngstown, and others to respond.
At the conclusion of the reception a
fine luncheon will be served, the entire ceremony being confined strictly
to the members of the order.

Tuesday morning the regular business sessions will begin, and the entire day and part of Wednesday will
be devoted to the affairs of the convention. A session will be held Wednesday morning, but in the afternoon
and evening the local committee has
Rock Springs park. Athletic sports
and contests of every description will
be indulged in, the entries for the various events being restricted to mem-

this city and Pittsburg.

On Wednesday evening an elabo-

The committee in charge of this por-
time nor expense to make this one of
the leading society events of the sea-

The banquet tables will be spread in
the commodious pavilion, and the af-

of the order and their ladies. Mayor
Davidson and wife and the representa-

vited to be present. Addresses will be made by Judge J. Henry Williams,
of Philadelphia; Supreme Secretary J.

Frederick Stork, Akron, and Rev. E.
V. Shayler, of Chicago. Rock Springs
park will be in the exclusive charge of
the Sons of St. George both afternoon
and evening.

It is thought it will be necessary
to hold a session of the convention
on Thursday morning, in order to

Trustee for Her Property
Before Marrying.

Akron, August 9.—Daniel Clifford
Adams, a young traveling salesman of
New York, met Miss Suza Woods, of
this city, on the street some months
ago. It was a case of love at first sight. Miss Woods is an orphan and heirless to $25,000. Relatives opposed
her marriage. The girl is of age. Attorney George Koehler, a friend of
her relatives, suggested a way out.
He proposed that Miss Woods turn
over all her property to him, as trustee, to remain in his possession three
years.

If at the end of that period she still
thought the match was one of the
heart and that Adams had not married her because of her fortune she
turned over to the lawyer. The young couple agreed to this, the necessary
papers were drawn up and the marriage was performed yesterday.

And Importance
Tuesday.

The local tribe, Improved Order of

usual importance next Thursday evening at their hall.

The Haymakers' degree will be
conferred upon 16 of the local red-
skins, and a very interesting meeting
is anticipated. Great Chief of Records Thomas J. Irwin, of Martin's Ferry, will confer the degree, which is
one of the most important in connection with the order.

Following the degree work a stag
banquet will be held in the hall.
Toasts will be responded to by a number of those present. The remainder of the evening will be devoted to feasting. The meeting will doubtless
be well attended.

THE TRAP IS HERE

GROUNDS AND CLUB HOUSE.

Contract Let for the Building, Which
Will Be Completed in a Short Time.

The new Magautrap was received
by the East Liverpool gun club yester-
day and was set up by Secretary
Yant. The apparatus is now on exhibition in the window of the Milli-
gan hardware store.

It is proposed by the club to have
the trap taken to the grounds, a lease
for which has already been taken out,
by next week. The general custom,
and the one which will likely be
adopted by the local organization, is
to have a walk or platform erected
in a semi-circle 50 yards from the
center at a given point on every side.
The trap will be erected after the
excavation has been made and a roof
or shanty built about the machine.
When it is complete the roof of the
enclosure containing the trap is all
that would be visible to the shooter.
The trap is fed automatically, and a
bird cannot be released until the
"puller" makes the trip. But one
blue rock is released at a time, and
then only after the shooter has given
the word. The position of the shooter
varies according to the number of
is given the three positions, one at
the extreme end of the platform, an-
other in the center, and again at the
opposite end, allowing him an equal
number of shots from each point.

It is recommended that the blue
rocks not be thrown more than 50
yards, and in order to regulate this,
stakes at intervals of six yards are
driven at points in front of the trap.
The trapper is cautioned to not throw
beyond them.

The executive board of the club has closed the deal with C. Nease for the erection of the club house. The building will be 12x22, and work upon
its erection will be started Monday.
It is thought that it can be completed next week.

A shoot will probably be held next

HELD A LAWN FETE

The "Jolly Nine" Had a Splendid
Time in the West End.

The "Jolly Nine," of the West End,
held a lawn fete last night in Crox-
all's field, which was on the most enjoyable events that has taken place
in that vicinity this summer. The
grounds were brilliantly illuminated
and the young people who took part
in the festivities were attractively
costumed in suits made expressly for
the occasion.

Each of the shirt waists worn by
the ladies differed in color, and the
scene presented was almost dazzling
to the eye. All had a splendid time.

Park Management Announces That
This Is the Last Colored Picnic.

Greatly owing to the good judgment
of Mayor Davidson in providing proper police protection yesterday, no serious trouble came about as the result
of the colored picnickers from Pittsburg. As on the occasion of the Av-
ory mission excursionists' visit here a
few weeks ago, there was with the
picnickers yesterday a crowd of
toughs, whose presence was for the
purpose of hunting trouble, and
though several of them succeeded
in finding it, no serious fights occurred.

Second street was the headquarters
for the tough element, and a party of
colored women are said to have furnished rare entertainment for their
male companions in the back rooms
of some of the "Smoky Row" saloons.
Little disorder took place at the park,
as the better element of the excursion-
ists went there immediately on their
arrival in this city and remained until it was time for their returning
train.

One small fight occurred in an up-
town barroom, but with the aid of a
hickory "pursuader," the proprietor
quieted the belligerents before either
was much hurt. An ex-prize fighter
named Fields tried to start a row in
the alley near Burns & McQuilkin's
livery stable, but his female escort induced him to make his presence
scarce just before an officer reached
the scene.

There were but few of the tough
characters who did not get well
"bowled up" before leaving the city,
and many of the women had to be
assisted to the train. A heavy set
girl named "Maud," who is said to
have formerly resided in East Liver-
pool, attempted to kick a window light
out of a passenger coach as the excu-
sion train was pulling into the depot,
and fell on the back of her neck.

A preacher who was in the crowd
tried to preserve order at the depot,
but had his hands full. However,
there was no unusual disorder otherwise than loud and boisterous talking.

Soon after dark a fight was started
in a Second street saloon which bade
fair to branch out into a general free-
for-all slugging match. Officer Staf-
ford and Special Officer Salsberry
were on the scene in short order and
arrested the fellow who had started
the difficulty. He was taken to jail
in the patrol, where he gave his name
as being Albert Brooks. His home is in Pittsburg.

Later in the evening Salsberry
again made his way into the saloon
where the fight had occurred, and
while making an effort to quiet a disturbance, one of the negroes who
was standing at the bar interfered
with him. The officer took hold of the
fellow and attempted to take him
from the saloon, when he was surrounded by a gang of the negro's con-
federates.

VETERANS' REUNION AN ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

The seventeenth annual reunion of
F, Forty-sixth Pennsylvania volunteers, was held today at the home of
N. A. Frederick, on Robinson street.
Eighteen members of the company
were in attendance, the names of
whom follow:

B. W. Morgan, Thomas Matthews,
N. A. Frederick, William Duncan,
Peter Bartz, Charles Shankle, James
Boyle, J. B. McKibbens, James R.
Todd, Matthew Nelson, James Sea-
right, W. E. Scott, Benjamin Dawes,
Cyrus Shade, J. A. Clifton, James Ew-
ing, James L. Lloyd, Samuel Sea-
right and Presley Dunwood.

A number of others belonging to
the same regiment were present, including a drum corps composed of veterans of Company B, with James
as the leader. Previous to the beginning of the business session this
noon the musicians played a

number of old-time selections which
were enjoyed in the fullest measure
by the old soldiers.

The assemblage held the business
meeting on the spacious lawn at the Frederick home and every possible
effort was made to make the reunion
a memorable one. Only 46 members
of Company F are living out of a total enlistment of 216. It has for the
past 17 years been the custom of the
surviving members of the company
to meet each year and all look forward to the event with pleasant anticipations. A greater part of the
day was devoted to "fighting over"
the battles which the regiment took
part in, and as the drum corps' strains
were listened to by the old veterans,
the dark days of the rebellion were
vividly recalled to view.

It was late in the afternoon when
the business session was called to order. The election of officers was an important feature of the meeting.

POTATO MASHER USED IN A HOT ARGUMENT

Willis McCullough and Dell McEl-
way, both colored, had a row at the Lakel yesterday which will result in
both being fined.

a desire to impress every one with
his importance and superior knowledge at all times. McElway argued
with him yesterday that it was nearer,
by way of the C. & P., to Pittsburg
than on the Panhandle through New Cumberland Junction. McCullough
became angry, and taking a potato
masher, proceeded to administer a
thumping to his antagonist, who is a mere boy. He beat the youngster on the head until some of the guests at the hotel interfered. McElway was badly used up and has since been unable to work.

Officer Davidson appeared on the scene after the trouble and notified
both to show up at the mayor's office this afternoon. It is alleged this is not the first time the men have fought and the fact that the cook is so much larger than his companion,
those about the hotel have determined to see to it that he receives
the punishment he so richly deserves.
At the hearing the fighters were each fined $3 and costs, or $7.60 each.

EAST END

THE LAUGHLIN PLANT

Work on the Additions to No. 2 is Being Pushed—A Very Complete Pottery.

When the new additions to the Laughlin pottery No. 2 are completed that factory will be one of the largest in the country. Of course it will be many months before the new buildings are completed, but to look at the work that has been done so far one is led to believe that it is the purpose of the company to leave nothing undone to make the new addition complete.

So far about 500 perches of masonry have been completed, and it was just three weeks at noon yesterday since the first stone for the foundation of the first kiln was laid. The foundation for the kiln shed is finished and yesterday work was begun laying the foundation for the clay shops.

There will probably be two railroad switches to this plant. One will likely be an extension of the siding on the west side of the present building, while the other will be a new siding, which will be laid on the east side of the plant, from the main line back of the hill. No time has been set for the new addition to be finished, the contractors, it is said, having just been asked to make as quick time as possible in their work.

Street Railway Men's Meeting.

It was said this morning that a meeting of the street railway employees' local, No. 52, would be held in their hall on Mulberry street, East End, next Monday evening, at which time assistance will be rendered to the sheet steel strikers at Wellsville. Secretary Griffiths, of this local, was asked today if the report was true, but said that while a meeting may be called he had not heard of it. The regular meeting of this local does not take place until the fourth Saturday in the month.

A Visitor From Cleveland.

Michael Fisher, formerly a motorman on the East Liverpool street railway and a resident of the East End, has been in the suburb for several days visiting friends. Mr. Fisher is employed in Cleveland, having had a position as motorman on the Cleveland & Eastern suburban railway for almost a year. This line is the road over which Bob Andrews is superintendent. Mr. Andrews was a resident of the East End for years, his parents still residing here on Pennsylvania avenue.

The Passion Play.

The Passion Play at Columbian park attracts large crowds every evening. At the performance last night several hundred persons were unable to obtain seats, as the grand stand was completely filled long before the performance began. Carpenters are busily engaged today erecting new seats in front of the grand stand to accommodate the crowds that are expected to attend the performances. The pictures will be presented for another week.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

Mrs. John Spence is ill at her home on Pennsylvania avenue.

Miss Lyda Berry, of Allegheny, is visiting at the home of Miss Pearl Smith, Pennsylvania avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Mowen, of First avenue, left this morning for Deerfield, Mahoning county, to attend a family reunion, which will be held there Saturday.

Owing to the small attendance, the meeting of the ladies' missionary society of the Second Presbyterian church was deferred until next Thursday afternoon. The meeting was to have been held yesterday afternoon.

A Severe Attack of Diarrhoea Cured.

People are fast learning that there is but one remedy that can always be depended upon to cure diarrhoea. In speaking of this remedy, E. F. Glover, a merchant of Evergreen, Va., says: "Last summer one of my customers who was a fireman on the Norfolk & Western railway, had so severe an attack of diarrhoea that he had to leave his work. He had employed several physicians and got no relief. I sold him a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and a day or two after he reported to me that he was entirely cured. I have no hesitation in guaranteeing this remedy and I have never yet had a bottle returned." For sale by Alvin H. Bulger, druggist.

A DYING HUSBAND

Claims His Wife Shot Him—She Says He Shot at Her Then Killed Himself.

Youngstown, Aug. 9.—James Allen was shot apparently by his wife at his home Wednesday night, and died at the Valley hospital yesterday. He was conscious to the last and signed a statement before Coroner Morrison to the effect that his wife shot him.

Following the tragedy the woman was placed in charge of an officer and later was brought to the police station. Mrs. Allen says her husband shot at her then killed himself. The fatal bullet, however, entered Allen's back and pierced the right lung. Allen was heater in an iron mill.

Domestic quarrels, it is said, have been frequent in the family and several times the wife had Allen arrested. Allen was 35 years old, and leaves a son ten years old.

It has attacked no one. Many people have seen it, but all attempts to capture it have failed.

Oceanic Collided With Steamer Kincora in Irish Channel—Latter Goes to the Bottom.

Queenstown, Aug. 9.—The White Star line steamer Oceanic, Captain Cameron, collided in the Irish channel with the steamer Kincora, of Waterford, Ireland. The Kincora sank. Seven of the crew of 14 were drowned. The collision occurred this side of Tuskar, at about 1:30 in the morning. The fog was very dense. The Kincora was struck amidships. All the passengers of the Oceanic were in bed at the time and there was some commotion until Captain Cameron assured them that there was not the least cause for alarm.

Headway was kept on the Oceanic after she struck the Kincora, in order to give the crew of the latter a chance to climb on board the Oceanic. The boats of the White Star liner were lowered to rescue every man possible. The Kincora sank very rapidly. The Oceanic remained in the vicinity of the collision until daylight, but nothing was then visible beyond some floating wreckage.

The only damage sustained by the Oceanic consisted in a few dents to her port plates.

Morgantown Man Commissioned.

TO NAME THE TRUXTUN.

Descendant of Famous Naval Officer Will Christen Her Namesake.

To Miss Isabelle Truxtun of Norfolk has been given the honor of conferring her name on a vessel of the United States navy. Miss Truxtun will smash the usual bottle of champagne over the bow of the torpedo boat destroyer Truxtun, which is nearing completion at Sparrow Point, Md. She will do this by virtue of her direct descent from Commodore Truxtun, the distinguished naval officer of a century ago. The name Truxtun ranks with Porter, Selfridge, Rodgers and Perry and a few others in the annals of the United States navy. The first naval officer to bear the name was Thomas Truxtun, for whom the torpedo boat destroyer is named. He commanded the first privateer sent out by the patriots during the Revolution and became a captain when the United States navy was organized. Truxtun's most celebrated services were performed on the Constellation during the brief war with France. He commanded the frigate during the famous battles with L'Insurgente and La Vengeance. Commodore Truxtun died in 1822. Eight of his grandsons were students in the Naval Academy.

Miss Isabelle Truxtun is the daughter of Commodore William Talbot Truxtun, who died in 1887. He was a grandson of the first commodore. Miss Truxtun's father served during the civil war, attaining the rank of lieutenant commander. Subsequently he rose to the grade of commodore.

The torpedo boat destroyer Truxtun will be one of the three largest of her class in the navy, being equal in size only by her sister ships the Whipple and the Worden. She will be of 433 tons displacement and in speed is expected to exceed 23 knots.

Second Class Mail Matter.

Falling to get suitable corrective legislation to establish a fairly remunerative rate for the carriage of second class mail matter, the officials of the postoffice department have determined to rectify some patent abuses by adopting stricter measures of classification. Fake publications circulated for merely speculative or advertising purposes, books published in serial form to escape full rates and merely merchandising devices with which the mails are burdened will hereafter be either excluded or properly rated. This is a step which the department should have taken years ago.—Philadelphia Record.

POISON IN A WELL

Paris Green Placed in a Well From Which Many Marietta People Drink.

Marietta, August 9.—When David Bell went to his well early yesterday morning he found a green powder clinging to the walls, and upon looking closer, saw that the same powder was sprinkled about the curb. Instantly Bell thought of paris green, and having seen a neighbor leaving the gate with a pail of water but a moment previously, hurried after him.

The neighbor, Peter Whipple, had filled a kettle, but had not taken a drink from his pail before Bell got to his house and announced his suspicions. The two went back to the well, drew a pail of water and found that pounds of the poison had been thrown into the well.

Bell's well, it is said, has the best water in this city, and whenever the city water is muddy or the weather warm, hundreds of families get their water here. The police have been working on the case and say they have evidence that will warrant an arrest. It is believed that a desire to obtain revenge prompted the placing of the poison in the well, as Bell was threatened some time ago.

MISS ISABELLE TRUXTUN.

a few others in the annals of the United States navy. The first naval officer to bear the name was Thomas Truxtun, for whom the torpedo boat destroyer is named. He commanded the first privateer sent out by the patriots during the Revolution and became a captain when the United States navy was organized. Truxtun's most celebrated services were performed on the Constellation during the brief war with France. He commanded the frigate during the famous battles with L'Insurgente and La Vengeance. Commodore Truxtun died in 1822. Eight of his grandsons were students in the Naval Academy.

Miss Isabelle Truxtun is the daughter of Commodore William Talbot Truxtun, who died in 1887. He was a grandson of the first commodore. Miss Truxtun's father served during the civil war, attaining the rank of lieutenant commander. Subsequently he rose to the grade of commodore.

The torpedo boat destroyer Truxtun will be one of the three largest of her class in the navy, being equal in size only by her sister ships the Whipple and the Worden. She will be of 433 ton displacement and in speed is expected to exceed 23 knots.

Second Class Mail Matter.

Failing to get suitable corrective legislation to establish a fairly remunerative rate for the carriage of second class mail matter, the officials of the post-office department have determined to rectify some patent abuses by adopting stricter measures of classification. Fake publications circulated for merely speculative or advertising purposes, books published in serial form to escape full rates and merely merchandising devices with which the mails are burdened will hereafter be either excluded or properly rated. This is a step which the department should have taken years ago.—Philadelphia Record.

OF ADDRESS MAY BE MADE AS OF-TEN AS DESIRED. WHEN A

A SPASM OF GOODNESS.

Probably nothing that has been done
by the Democrats of Ohio in recent years—even the ignoring of William J. Bryan's name in the state platform
—is likely to attract more attention and comment than the decision of the state chairman, Colonel Daugherty,
that the state headquarters must not be located in a hotel where there is a bar. Conscientious scruple against bars or the patronage thereof is something so strange and rare in the Democratic party that it is small wonder that the old-timers are astounded and some are even going so far as to denounce him as a crank and a Miss Nancy. Republicans, however, will give him credit for honorable and praiseworthy intentions. The colonel evidently knows his party, and is aware that booze and business cannot be mingled successfully. A hotel bar never harmed those who kept away from it. The colonel seems to fear that his associates will not keep away. And, as we remarked before,
the colonel doubtless knows his men.

PAYING DEARLY FOR FOLLY.

Compared with 1897, the year before Tammany came into power in New York city, the valuation of property in the metropolis has been increased more than a billion dollars,
according to the estimates of the New York Herald. The tax rate for the present year has been raised about 7 cents on each $100 of property.
Yearly expenditures have been increased $28,000,000 in four years. All these increases are enormously out of proportion to the natural growth of the city and of its necessary expenditures. The people of Greater New York are paying very dearly for their folly in elevating a great body of corruptionists to power. The present state of affairs is largely the fault
of citizens who do not fulfill the duty of citizenship by taking a hand in politics, who remain away from the polls at primaries and on election day, allowing the bosses to have full sway. Purification of politics can never be accomplished until pure men
 exert themselves to reform evils which they know to exist. There is no necessity that the greatest American city should be ruled by the worst element it contains; the better element outnumbers the worse and could outvote it if it would make a united and determined effort. If a city is ill-governed good citizens cannot escape all responsibility in the matter.

East Liverpool is fast gaining rank
and popularity as a convention city.
There have been several important gatherings here in the past few months, notably the national convention of the potters and the state convention of stationary engineers, and now the city is soon to entertain the Sons of St. George, and after them
the state council of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics. All will get a taste of good, old-fashioned,
Ohio hospitality, and we trust every effort will be put forth to give all strangers a favorable impression of the Crockery City and its people.

Twelve pages, containing 72 columns, crowded with news, interesting reading matter and interesting advertising announcements, are the bill of fare which the Evening News Review
lays before its readers this evening.
The condition of our advertising columns shows that the business men,
like the general public, are fully alive
to the merits of the News Review.

Anent the steel workers' strike the assertion is made that the battle must go on. Why must it? It is not too late for compromise or for reference of the dispute to arbitration. It is too costly a fight for both sides to be unnecessarily prolonged. It must end some time, and the sooner the better for all concerned.

The discovery of gold-bearing copper ore in Montana has caused an excitement in mining circles almost rivaling that of 1849 in California. Evidence is multiplying that the mineral resources of the west, instead of being exhausted, are good for golden harvests for many years to come.

Dumont's dirigible airship appears to be almost as unmanageable as the old-time device of Darius Green.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Sarah Horsefall.

Lisbon, August 9.—Mrs. Sarah Horsefall, aged 78, a lifelong resident of Lisbon, died on Wednesday. Four children survive her. She had been an invalid for three years.

Process Too Expensive.

Warts are curious things. They come and go mysteriously, although their going is frequently marked by exasperating delays, and there are almost as many infallible cures as there are warts, the only trouble with these cures being that they are useless when applied to the particular wart you happen to have. They are only good for other people's.

"In my opinion," said a clubman who was discussing the subject with a friend one day, "a wart is merely the outward correspondence of some mental exorcism. Get rid of that, and it goes away."

"Let me give you a bit of my own experience," he continued. "Last year
I went to Europe. For about three years I had had a wart on my little finger, on which I had tried everything I could hear of, but without effect. It only grew larger."

"Well, in the excitement of preparing for the trip and of the journey itself I forgot all about my wart, and when I looked for it about six weeks later it had vanished without leaving the slightest mark. I simply forgot it, and it had no mental condition to feed on. I see you have one on the back of your hand. Forget all about it for a few weeks, and it will go away of itself."

"Yes," said the other clubman, shrug-
ging his shoulders, "but I can't afford
to take a trip to Europe for the sake of curing one wart."

Sewing Done by Ants.

Ants are credited with so many marvelous accomplishments that a new one
must be remarkable to the noteworthy.
Mr. E. G. Green of Ceylon, an authority upon insect habits, has, however,
made an observation which is well
worth putting on record. He has watched red ants holding grubs in their mouths and using the web they spin to repair a rent in their nest.

Some leaves which had been fastened
together by the ants were separated by
Mr. Green, and in a short time after he saw small white grubs being passed
backward and forward across the gap.
Closer observation showed that each
grub was held in the jaws of one of the worker ants, and its movements were directed as required. A continuous thread of silk issued from the mouth of
each grub and was used by the ants to
sew up the rent in their shelter.

There were no grubs in the neighborhood, and those used were obtained
from a nest at some distance. This deliberate use of a naturally formed web
as a sewing thread is as astonishing as
any instance of the intelligence of ants
yet observed.

The Sebring News of this week
contains a vigorous puff for the French China company. It says:

"Every department of the French
China company is now in working or-
der. From the front to the rear of
this mammoth structure all branches
are progressing and everything is being put in line for the successful operation of one of the largest pottery
plants in the world. Saturday the first kiln was fired, which was drawn Tuesday, and other kilns in turn are being filled with ware. Thus the work inaugurated and begun under the management of Mr. E. H. Sebring will
be continued, and the reputation
gained under the nom de plume of
'Klondike' will be eclipsed in Sebring
by anything ever attained in East Liverpool."

"The French China is a six-kiln
plant of the most modern make, and
for style and convenience has no
superior anywhere. Its rooms are large and commodious, airy and
healthful, and the employees are
bright-faced and pleasant looking.
Every indication denotes content-
ment and prosperity."

Sam Stillwell, presser at the Oliver
China company, Sebring, has resigned and signed with the St.
Louis ball team. He is expected to report Monday morning.

Miss Ella Rafter, gilder at the Oliver China company plant, Sebring,

company at Sebring, has gone to

he has taken a place in the old Chel-

partment of the Murphy pottery.

Peculiar Trees.

The visitor to the Falkland islands
sees a number of what appear to be
weather beaten, moss covered bowlders
of various sizes scattered here and there. On attempting to turn one over
he is surprised to find that it is anchored to the ground by roots of great strength. These are not bowlders. They are trees. No other place in the world
can show such a peculiarity of "forest"
growth. The Falkland islands are exposed to a strong polar wind which renders it impossible for trees to grow in
the proper form. Nature has consequently adapted herself to the prevailing conditions and produced this strange form of plant life. These "living stones," as they are called, are quite devoid of "grain," and it is next
to impossible to cut them up and utilize
them for fuel.

Its Changing Value.

It was right that the gallant act
should be rewarded, but what should
she give him?

Ha, a kiss, of course! Were there
not men who would pay a great price
for that? Truly it was quoted high.

"That," she said as she bestowed it,
"is easily worth $100."

"It was," he answered, "but it is not."

"What do you mean?" she asked.

"While in your possession it would bring a good sum," he said, "but in mine it cannot be exchanged for the price of a meal."

However, he was a prosaic sort of
fellow at best, and besides he was hungry.—Chicago Post.

est mark. I simply forgot it, and it had no mental condition to feed on. I
see you have one on the back of your
hand. Forget all about it for a few weeks, and it will go away of itself."

"Yes," said the other clubman, shrug-
ging his shoulders, "but I can't afford
to take a trip to Europe for the sake of curing one wart."

Sewing Done by Ants.

Ants are credited with so many marvelous accomplishments that a new one
must be remarkable to the noteworthy.
Mr. E. G. Green of Ceylon, an authority upon insect habits, has, however,
made an observation which is well
worth putting on record. He has watched red ants holding grubs in their
mouths and using the web they spin to
repair a rent in their nest.

Some leaves which had been fastened
together by the ants were separated by
Mr. Green, and in a short time after he
saw small white grubs being passed
backward and forward across the gap.
Closer observation showed that each
grub was held in the jaws of one of the
worker ants, and its movements were
directed as required. A continuous
thread of silk issued from the mouth of
each grub and was used by the ants to
sew up the rent in their shelter.

There were no grubs in the neighborhood, and those used were obtained
from a nest at some distance. This de-
liberate use of a naturally formed web
as a sewing thread is as astonishing as
any instance of the intelligence of ants
yet observed.

The Sebring News of this week
contains a vigorous puff for the French China company. It says:

"Every department of the French
China company is now in working or-
der. From the front to the rear of
this mammoth structure all branches
are progressing and everything is being put in line for the successful operation of one of the largest pottery
plants in the world. Saturday the
first kiln was fired, which was drawn
Tuesday, and other kilns in turn are
being filled with ware. Thus the
work inaugurated and begun under the management of Mr. E. H. Sebring will
be continued, and the reputation
gained under the nom de plume of
"Klondike" will be eclipsed in Sebring
by anything ever attained in East
Liverpool."

"The French China is a six-kiln
plant of the most modern make, and
for style and convenience has no
superior anywhere. Its rooms are
large and commodious, airy and
healthful, and the employees are
bright-faced and pleasant looking.
Every indication denotes content-
ment and prosperity."

Sam Stillwell, presser at the Oliver
China company, Sebring, has
resigned and signed with the St.
Louis ball team. He is expected to report Monday morning.

iver China company plant, Sebring,

there.

Miss Margaret Bennett, who has been employed by the Oliver China
company at Sebring, has gone to Wales, her old home, to remain.

Brown have arrived in Sebring from East Liverpool, and have positions in the Sebring pottery.

has gone to New Cumberland, where
he has taken a place in the old Chelsea pottery.

tion as manager of the decorating department of the Murphy pottery.

Peculiar Trees.

The visitor to the Falkland islands
sees a number of what appear to be
weather beaten, moss covered bowlders
of various sizes scattered here and
there. On attempting to turn one over
he is surprised to find that it is anchored to the ground by roots of great strength. These are not bowlders. They
are trees. No other place in the world
can show such a peculiarity of "forest"
growth. The Falkland islands are exposed to a strong polar wind which renders it impossible for trees to grow in
the proper form. Nature has consequently adapted herself to the prevail-
ing conditions and produced this
strange form of plant life. These "living stones," as they are called, are
quite devoid of "grain," and it is next
to impossible to cut them up and utilize
them for fuel.

Its Changing Value.

It was right that the gallant act
should be rewarded, but what should
he give him?
Ha, a kiss, of course! Were there
not men who would pay a great price
for that? Truly it was quoted high.
"That," she said as she bestowed it,
"is easily worth $100."
"It was," he answered, "but it is
not."
"What do you mean?" she asked.
"While in your possession it would
bring a good sum," he said, "but in
mine it cannot be exchanged for the price of a meal."
However, he was a prosaic sort of
fellow at best, and besides he was hungry.—Chicago Post.

CHESTER COUNCIL

Held a Brief Meeting And Deferred Action As to Fire Plugs.

Chester council met last night with Members Reilly, Arner, Cochran, Finley, Marshall and Solicitor Marshall present.

Owing to the illness of Mayor Dunn there was not much business transacted. Action on the contract of the Southside Water Works company for the placing of fire plugs was deferred until the next meeting, the opinion of the council being divided as to water plugs.

They ordered a voucher drawn for $400 in favor of Harper Ralston, contractor for the new town building, and $5.37 for the Southside Lumber company for material. The council adjourned until next Thursday night.

HAD TO JUMP OFF

Chester People Indignant at the Alleged Treatment of Street Railway Employees.

Several residents of Chester are very indignant at the treatment they claim to have received at the hands of the conductors of the street cars yesterday. They came over from East Liverpool on a car which was loaded with colored people and when they wanted to get off at the switch they were refused to stop their car. They were compelled to jump off while the car was in motion and were thrown to the ground, but were uninjured.

BALLOON LOST

Prof. Kinkade Still Waiting to Hear Where His Flying Machine Is.

Prof. T. H. Kinkade has as yet been unable to locate his balloon since his ascension Wednesday evening. There have been at least 50 telephone messages received at the park as to the location of the balloon, but upon investigation they have proven untrue.

Several of the employees of the park are of the opinion that it struck in the river and has been swallowed by the fish.

Sued on a Board Bill.

Mrs. George Quell appeared at the office of Squire Johnston and swore out warrants for the arrest of Mr. and Mrs. Larkins, she claiming that they owed her a board bill of several weeks. They were arrested and taken before the magistrate where they pleaded guilty, and made arrangements to pay the bill and the costs in the case.

About 600 Picnickers Today.

The picnic held at the park today from Brilliant was attended by about 600 people. A ball game was played between the Wellsburg and Brilliant teams.

The Mill Creek Valley fair, at Hookstown, will be held on August 20, 21 and 22. H. W. Nelson is president and R. M. Swaney secretary.

FOR TWENTY-TWO YEARS

An Inmate of the Belmont County Infirmary Had Been Bedfast.

St. Clairsville, August 9.—John Lennox is dead at the Belmont county infirmary. For the last 22 years he has been a constant care to the officials of the institution. In all that time he has been unable to do anything for himself. He was in bed all the time and had to have a special nurse to feed him and give him the nourishment. He was not able to move his body at all. One arm appeared to be ossified. It shriveled up and became nothing more than bone. The nails of the fingers on that hand grew to be several inches long.

It was one of the most remarkable cases on record.

Mrs. L. L. Weaver left this morning for a visit at Buffalo.

E. H. Sebring has returned to Sebring after a visit in this city.

his prisoner a blow over the head which sent him to the floor. The other toughs were about to close in on him when Officer Dawson came to the rescue. Dragging the prisoner to the door, the policemen tried to induce him to submit peaceably, but he again showed fight.

Fearing an attack from the man's companions, Dawson pulled his club and knocked the negro down for the second time. Just at this juncture Officers Thompson and Stafford appeared and the prisoner weakened. The handcuffs were placed on him and in short order the patrol landed him in the bastille. His name is Charles Spencer and his home at Allegheny. This morning Mayor Davidson fined Brooks and Spencer $3 and costs each. Neither had any money, and both are yet in jail.

It is fortunate that no serious trouble occurred yesterday, as there were several desperate characters among the Pittsburg delegation who are notorious as "bad men." Mayor Davidson expected trouble and took necessary precautions to guard against it. The officers were constantly on the alert, and it is due to their good work that the day did not witness a repetition of the disgraceful brawls which occurred when the former colored picnic was held at the park.

Mayor Davidson has been much relieved by the assurance given him by the management of Rock Springs park that no more colored picnics will be booked for that resort.

IT WAS THE LAST

PARK MANAGERS HAVE HAD ENOUGH OF NEGRO PICNICS.

There Were 1,500 People in Chester And Some Right Lively Fighting Yesterday.

The last colored picnic to occupy Rock Springs park was held there yesterday. It has been announced by the management of the park that no more will be booked. The two trains brought about 1,500 persons to the park, and for the greater part of the day the crowd was very orderly. Just before it was time for the trains to depart some of the pleasure seekers commenced to "warm up," and on the flat just south of the railway tracks there were a number of fights.

In one fight, which was started by a woman, no less than six other women who interested themselves in the affair were knocked down. The woman who started the trouble had her forehead cut open by having it struck by a piece of crockery were in the hands of another woman. Her dress after this looked as if some one had painted it. The men had their say and several fights occurred as a result.

The street railway men had no trouble with the crowd, although several heated arguments took place between the men and women on the cars.

But one gambling device was in evidence, and the largest "crap" game was played on the country road just back of the small frame building from which the electric fountain is operated.

NOTES AND NOTIONS

A VARIETY OF TALES PICKED UP ABOUT TOWN.

Opinions And Observations of Interest As Noted By News Review Reporters.

The head bookkeeper of an uptown pottery is a camera fiend. He is not a forgetful man, but yesterday when he went to the vicinity of the bridge to take a few views he neglected to provide himself with a head cloth. He was about to give up the expedition for the time, but a happy thought struck him—he would use his coat. He did not get on well, however, as the garment was very short, necessitating a vast amount of pulling and jerking, first one way and then the other. While this was in progress a number of business letters which were in one of the pockets came out and fluttered over the edge of the bank. When they settled the letters were scattered over a radius of fully one hundred yards. The office man abandoned the kodak and began a skirmish for the letters. When he had succeeded in rounding them up his enthusiasm had subsided, and he turned the apparatus over to the photographer and went home. The gentleman is not a profane man, but what he thought as he went up the street would doubtless have been interesting to listen to.

Officer Finley and George Bevington worked until a late hour at Rock Springs park Tuesday evening, and as a result received a fright that they will not soon forget. They were coming down to close the gate at the entrance, and were about at the pavilion when they heard the most unearthly yells. They started to run and kept it up until they reached the gate, which they closed in a great hurry. There happened to be a number of people standing at the street car track, and they asked what the matter was. The men replied that there were a number of wildcats up in the park, fighting. Several men then went up in the park to investigate and discovered four house cats in the vicinity of the spring indulging in a nocturnal scrimmage.

J. H. Burgess was approached by a Third street woman the other night who asked if he was the board of health. The sanitary officer replied that he was only a part of it and asked what was wrong. The woman informed him that he was grossly neglecting his duty, and explained that her neighbor's chickens had been running at large until her garden had been almost destroyed. "It has become an abominable nuisance," she said, "and you should abate it at once." Mr. Burgess assured her he had no jurisdiction in the matter, but referred the woman to Humane Officer Miller.

ASKED NOT TO SELL TO NON-UNIONISTS.

Cleveland, Aug. 9.—At the Crescent Tin Plate works carpenters were engaged in erecting a large building, which, it is said, will be used as a boarding house for non-union men to be employed at the plant. Union men visited practically every merchant in Newburg and asked all to decline to sell supplies for the use of the non-union men. Butchers and grocers especially were urged not to sell food to be given to non-unionists. The same request, it is said, will be repeated to all food dealers in the city.

SHARK BIT OFF HIS LEG.

American Sailor May Get a Pension.

Washington, Aug. 9.—Admiral Kempff has forwarded to the navy department an official report, from Commander Kohler, thrilling in its details, of the biting off, near the knee, of the leg of Quartermaster S. McKie, of the gunboat Annapolis, while swimming with other men, by a shark or other mammoth sea monster, near Hullo.

With all dispatch he was taken aboard the Annapolis, where the surgeon found it necessary to amputate the limb between the knee and hip. The surgeon, in his report, states that while the accident was not in the line of duty, it was incident to the service. Admiral Kempff, however, in endorsing the papers, holds that as the quartermaster had received permission from the officer in charge to go in bathing, the accident occurred in the line of duty. Under these circumstances the crippled quartermaster probably will receive a pension.

SHUT OUT MATTIE BEALS.

60 Business Men Signed Contest Papers Against Woods' Action.

Fort Sill, O. T., Aug. 9.—Contest papers were filed yesterday by Attorney John L. Calvert, of Guthrie, against the entry made by James R. Woods, winner of the first number in the Lawton district land lottery. According to the government plan, two plans were made to adjoin the southern part of the Lawton town site.

This was considered the most valuable land in the whole country, and in filling Woods claimed 160 acres running the length of the town site. This shut out Mattie Beals, the Wichita telephone girl, who drew number two in the lottery. She was compelled to file on a claim of much less value. Five hundred business men signed the contest papers, which allege that Woods violated both the spirit and letter of the homestead act.

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 9.—Governor Stanley wired Sheriff Everhardy, of Leavenworth, to prevent the proposed fight there last night between Patrick Earle, of Boston, and Joe Curtin, of Chicago. Otherwise, the governor said in his message, proceedings will be instituted against officers failing to do their duty.

Owing to the illness of Mayor Dunn there was not much business transacted. Action on the contract of the Southside Water Works company for the placing of fire plugs was deferred until the next meeting, the opinion of the council being divided as to water plugs.

They ordered a voucher drawn for $400 in favor of Harper Ralston, contractor for the new town building, and $5.37 for the Southside Lumber company for material. The council adjourned until next Thursday night.

HAD TO JUMP OFF

Chester People Indignant at the Alleged Treatment of Street Railway Employees.

Several residents of Chester are very indignant at the treatment they claim to have received at the hands of the conductors of the street cars yesterday. They came over from East Liverpool on a car which was loaded with colored people and when they wanted to get off at the switch the men refused to stop their car. They were compelled to jump off while the car was in motion and were thrown to the ground, but were uninjured.

BALLOON LOST

Prof. Kinkade Still Waiting to Hear Where His Flying Machine Is.

Prof. T. H. Kinkade has as yet been unable to locate his balloon since his ascension Wednesday evening. There have been at least 50 telephone messages received at the park as to the location of the balloon, but upon investigation they have proven untrue.

Several of the employees of the park are of the opinion that it struck in the river and has been swallowed by the fish.

Sued on a Board Bill.

Mrs. George Quell appeared at the office of Squire Johnston and swore out warrants for the arrest of Mr. and Mrs. Larkins, she claiming that they owed her a board bill of several weeks. They were arrested and taken before the magistrate where they pleaded guilty, and made arrangements to pay the bill and the costs in the case.

FOR TWENTY-TWO YEARS

An Inmate of the Belmont County Infirmary Had Been Bedfast.

St. Clairsville, August 9.—John Lennox is dead at the Belmont county infirmary. For the last 22 years he has been a constant care to the officials of the institution. In all that time he has been unable to do anything for himself. He was in bed all the time and had to have a special nurse to feed him and give him the nourishment. He was not able to move his body at all. One arm appeared to be ossified. It shriveled up and became nothing more than bone. The nails of the fingers on that hand grew to be several inches long.

It was one of the most remarkable cases on record.

Mrs. L. L. Weaver left this morning for a visit at Buffalo.

E. H. Sebring has returned to Sebring after a visit in this city.

his prisoner a blow over the head which sent him to the floor. The other toughs were about to close in on him when Officer Dawson came to the rescue. Dragging the prisoner to the door, the policemen tried to induce him to submit peaceably, but he again showed fight.

Fearing an attack from the man's companions, Dawson pulled his club and knocked the negro down for the second time. Just at this juncture Officers Thompson and Stafford appeared and the prisoner weakened. The handcuffs were placed on him and in short order the patrol landed him in the bastille. His name is Charles Spencer and his home at Allegheny. This morning Mayor Davidson fined Brooks and Spencer $3 and costs each. Neither had any money, and both are yet in jail.

It is fortunate that no serious trouble occurred yesterday, as there were several desperate characters among the Pittsburgh delegation who are notorious as "bad men." Mayor Davidson expected trouble and took necessary precautions to guard against it. The officers were constantly on the alert, and it is due to their good work that the day did not witness a repetition of the disgraceful brawls which occurred when the former colored picnic was held at the park.

Mayor Davidson has been much relieved by the assurance given him by the management of Rock Springs park that no more colored picnics will be booked for that resort.

IT WAS THE LAST

There Were 1,500 People in Chester And Some Right Lively Fighting Yesterday.

The last colored picnic to occupy Rock Springs park was held there yesterday. It has been announced by the management of the park that no more will be booked. The two trains brought about 1,500 persons to the park, and for the greater part of the day the crowd was very orderly. Just before it was time for the trains to depart some of the pleasure seekers commenced to "warm up," and on the flat just south of the railway tracks there were a number of fights.

In one fight, which was started by a woman, no less than six other women who interested themselves in the affair were knocked down. The woman who started the trouble had her forehead cut open by having it struck by a piece of crockery ware in the hands of another woman. Her dress after this looked as if some one had painted it. The men had their say and several fights occurred as a result.

The street railway men had no trouble with the crowd, although several heated arguments took place between the men and women on the cars.

But one gambling device was in evidence, and the largest "crap" game was played on the country road just back of the small frame building from which the electric fountain is operated.

NOTES AND NOTIONS

A VARIETY OF TALES PICKED UP ABOUT TOWN.

Opinions And Observations of Interest As Noted By News Review Reporters.

The head bookkeeper of an uptown pottery is a camera fiend. He is not a forgetful man, but yesterday when he went to the vicinity of the bridge to take a few views he neglected to provide himself with a head cloth. He was about to give up the expedition for the time, but a happy thought struck him—he would use his coat. He did not get on well, however, as the garment was very short, necessitating a vast amount of pulling and jerking, first one way and then the other. While this was in progress a number of business letters which were in one of the pockets came out and fluttered over the edge of the bank. When they settled the letters were scattered over a radius of fully one hundred yards. The office man abandoned the kodak and began a skirmish for the letters. When he had succeeded in rounding them up his enthusiasm had subsided, and he turned the apparatus over to the photographer and went home. The gentleman is not a profane man, but what he thought as he went up the street would doubtless have been interesting to listen to.

Officer Finley and George Bevington worked until a late hour at Rock Springs park Tuesday evening, and as a result received a fright that they will not soon forget. They were coming down to close the gate at the entrance, and were about at the pavilion when they heard the most unearthly yells. They started to run and kept it up until they reached the gate, which they closed in a great hurry. There happened to be a number of people standing at the street car track, and they asked what the matter was. The men replied that there were a number of wildcats up in the park, fighting. Several men then went up in the park to investigate and discovered four house cats in the vicinity of the spring indulging in a nocturnal scrimmage.

J. H. Burgess was approached by a Third street woman the other night who asked if he was the board of health. The sanitary officer replied that he was only a part of it and asked what was wrong. The woman informed him that he was grossly neglecting his duty, and explained that her neighbor's chickens had been running at large until her garden had been almost destroyed. "It has become an abominable nuisance," she said, "and you should abate it at once." Mr. Burgess assured her he had no jurisdiction in the matter, but referred the woman to Humane Officer Miller.

ASKED NOT TO SELL TO NON-UNIONISTS.

Cleveland, Aug. 9.—At the Crescent Tin Plate works carpenters were engaged in erecting a large building, which, it is said, will be used as a boarding house for non-union men to be employed at the plant. Union men visited practically every merchant in Newburg and asked all to decline to sell supplies for the use of the non-union men. Butchers and grocers especially were urged not to sell food to be given to non-unionists. The same request, it is said, will be repeated to all food dealers in the city.

SHARK BIT OFF HIS LEG.

American Sailor May Get a Pension.

Washington, Aug. 9.—Admiral Kempff has forwarded to the navy department an official report, from Commander Kohler, thrilling in its details, of the biting off, near the knee, of the leg of Quartermaster S. McKie, of the gunboat Annapolis, while swimming with other men, by a shark or other mammoth sea monster, near

With all dispatch he was taken aboard the Annapolis, where the surgeon found it necessary to amputate the limb between the knee and hip. The surgeon, in his report, states that while the accident was not in the line of duty, it was incident to the service. Admiral Kempff, however, in endorsing the papers, holds that as the quartermaster had received permission from the officer in charge to go in bathing, the accident occurred in the line of duty. Under these circumstances the crippled quartermaster probably will receive a pension.

SHUT OUT MATTIE BEALS.

60 Business Men Signed Contest Papers Against Woods' Action.

Fort Hill, O. T., Aug. 9.—Contest papers were filed yesterday by Attorney John I. Calvert, of Guthrie, against the entry made by James R. Woods, winner of the first number in the Lawton district land lottery. According to the government plan, two plans were made to adjoin the southern part of the Lawton town site.

This was considered the most valuable land in the whole country, and in filing Woods claimed 160 acres running the length of the town site. This shut out Mattie Beals, the Wichita telephone girl, who drew number two in the lottery. She was compelled to file on a claim of much less value. Five hundred business men signed the contest papers, which allege that Woods violated both the spirit and letter of the homestead act.

LABOR MOGULS MET.

Gompers, Morrison, Shaffer and Others Held Conferences at Pittsburg.

COMPERS DECLINED TO EXPLAIN,

But Said He Would Give Statement When Conclusion Was Reached—Attempt to Start Lindsay-McCutcheon Mill Not Much of a Success.

Pittsburg, Aug. 9.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, arrived in Pittsburg yesterday morning. He came with Secretary Frank Morrison, of that organization, and the two officials held conferences with President T. J. Shaffer and others. President Gompers said:

"I cannot say anything for publication at present. I shall be glad to say anything to the representatives of the press when the time comes to speak, but in the meantime I cannot discuss these matters. I expect to remain in Pittsburg tomorrow and will hold another conference with Mr. Shaffer during the day. When we have reached a conclusion I will call you all in and give you our decision."

During the conference yesterday the Amalgamated association was represented by President Shaffer, Secretary John Williams, Assistant Secretary M. F. Tighe and Vice Presidents David Reese and John Chappell. In addition to these were present Patrick Dolan, president of the Pittsburg district of the United Mine Workers; National Organizer Flynn, of the American Federation of Labor, and the two visiting officials of the Federation from Washington.

President Shaffer said that everything was satisfactory to him, both as regarded the strike and the conference.

McKeesport Much Organized.

President Dolan said his presence in the conference was not significant. He said that as an officer of another organization and having labor organization interests at heart he naturally would call and see the leaders of the present strike. National Organizer Flynn, who has been exceedingly active in getting the furnace workers organized throughout Pennsylvania and Ohio, and also organizing the National Tube company employees in McKeesport, is understood to have reported in detail the result of his work at the conference and how the organization stood at the present time. Mr. Flynn said that McKeesport was one of the most completely organized cities in the state. Not only was every mill organized, but all trades and classes of employees have, during the past few weeks, been brought into local organizations under the head of the American Federation of Labor. This statement was regarded as having a strong bearing on the present situation in and about the Tube City. Absolutely nothing could be learned of the situation regarding the furnace workers in the Mahoning valley. It was said that there was an erroneous impression regarding those men. President Shaffer had never intended to have his strike order interpreted as meaning for the furnace men who are not attached to the Amalgamated association to go out.

Fight Becoming Bitter.

What the ultimate outcome of the order will be, the officials of the organization will not say. It is believed, however, that if it is deemed advisable to order out workers that are organized in the mills of the trust under the name of the American Federation of Labor, it will be done successfully. All of the labor leaders in the conference yesterday declared that they knew of no peace proposals that were pending or being considered. On the other hand, they said that so far as they were aware the fight was tending toward more bitterness and determination on the part of the men. The reports from Chicago which gave the impression that the men employed in the mills of the Illinois Steel company would not respond to President Shaffer's call were only smiled at, and in reply the officials said: "Just wait and see."

Reports received in the Amalgamated headquarters during yesterday indicated that when the workmen went out on Saturday night everything would be tied up tight. The same condition of affairs was reported from the Republic mills in the Southside.

The reports brought to the Amalgamated headquarters concerning the attempt on the part of the Steel Hoop company to start the Lindsay-McCutcheon mill in Allegheny yesterday morning were reassuring. The non-union men who were expected to take the strikers' places did not show up. One roller and one helper appeared, but after waiting for others for some hours, the officials of the mill declared that they would abandon their attempt for the day. It is said that with the exception of one or two men, all of the former employees of this mill are now employed in independent plants in other parts of Pittsburg and Allegheny. The idle men are they who do not want to work during the hot weather. The rumor of an attempt being made to start the Painter mill was not taken seriously by the strike leaders. Such an attempt would prove more of a failure than that in the Lindsay-McCutcheon mill, they said. National Organizer John Pierce, of the Amalgamated association, paid a visit to both mills yesterday and came back perfectly satisfied with the condition of affairs he found in these plants.

Will Try to Start Monday.

The American Sheet Steel company officials have issued instructions to the manager of the Carnegie mill to start up the plant next Monday. The manager, John Henry, called the former mill men to the plant yesterday and told them that they would have to return to work on Monday, or they could never get back to work there. The men held a meeting and decided to go in a body to the mill and inform Mr. Henry that they would not return and would not allow others to take their places if they could help it. Preparations are now under way to picket the mill, and a strong guard of strikers will be on duty constantly night and day. The strikers are determined and declare that they will be able to prevent any movement of the plant.

Crippling Apollo Mill.

Organizer James, of the Amalgamated association, returned from Hyde Park and Leechburg yesterday morning. Mr. James said that the Hyde Park mill of the sheet steel company was operating partially. There were very few regular men employed there, the company bringing most of their force down from the Vandergrift and Apollo plants by the train each day and taking them back at night. In this way, it is said, the Apollo plant is operated, except the men were kept in town, and the strikers who have been quietly investigating the true situation claim that the company can only operate a certain number of mills with their force, and their scattering them about over all their plants simply cripples regular non-union mills and leaves the way open for good missionary work by the strikers in the outlying districts. Mr. James says that he believes that the old Apollo mill is practically idle and that the men there have been sent to other idle plants to start them for the effect that they think it will have on the men now out.

Shaffer Made a Speech.

An eventful day in the steel strike yesterday was closed with the making of a sensational address to an open meeting of steel workers by President Shaffer, of the Amalgamated association. He claimed that the trust had been robbing the union of a few mills at a time, by starving men into submission. President Shaffer addressed the open meeting, held under the auspices of Lafayette lodge, in Lafayette hall, Thirty-seventh and Butler streets.

There were indications of a purpose to start the Painter mill today.

SIMPLE FUNERAL SERVICE.

Ninetieth Psalm and Other Scriptures Read Over Remains of Empress Dowager.

Cronberg, Aug. 9.—The funeral service held at Friedrichshof was simple, but highly impressive. It was performed at the request of the late Dowager empress by the bishop of Ripon, her own chaplain, assisted by the Rev. Thomas Teigmouth Shore, canon of Worcester.

The coffin stood in the death chamber covered with a long black pall and strewn with white roses. At the foot, with bowed head and slightly in advance of the other mourners, stood Emperor William, in the uniform of the Black Hussars, the regiment of the royal family, except Prince Henry of Prussia. The other mourners, who formed two lines in the rear, included Prince and Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein, Colonel Fritzeltz, Crown Prince Frederick William's aide; Count von Seckendorff, who was the secretary of the deceased; the Duke of Cambridge, the Grand Duke of Hesse and a few court officials.

The service was conducted entirely without music. It consisted of a portion of the burial service of the church of England, the ninetieth psalm, a reading from the first epistle to the Corinthians and the benediction. The congregation rendered the responses. Immediately after its conclusion Emperor William and the empress drove back to Homburg.

Count von Waldersee will arrive here Saturday to report personally to the emperor, and it is expected he will attend the service on Sunday.

In consequence of the death of the dowager empress Emperor William has decided not to invite foreign princes to attend the autumn manoeuvres.

The Renown of the Great Author And Physician, Dr. A. W. Chase, Is Accented By East Liverpool People.

It's by the words of the people that Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills have come into such active demand. The announcements for this medicine are not dependent on the testimony of people so far away that they cannot be authenticated—it's home evidence that convinces, because easily substantiated—it's the simple statement of things done and told in the words of the relieved.

Mr. M. Rushton, of No. 387 West Market street, East Liverpool, O., says: "Before I used Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills I got at Larkins' drug store, corner Sixth and East Market streets, I was bilious—head felt achy and dull. The effect of the medicine was to regulate the liver—clear the head—give a feeling of strength, energy and new life. This I think justifies a recommendation."

LABOR MOGULS MET.

Gompers, Morrison, Shaffer and Others Held Conferences at Pittsburgh.

GOMPERS DECLINED TO EXPLAIN,

There were very few regular men employed there, the company bringing most of their force down from the Vandergrift and Apollo plants by the train each day and taking them back at night. In this way, it is said, the Vellsville plant is operated, except the men were kept in town, and the strikers who have been quietly investigating the true situation claim that the company can only operate a certain number of mills with their force, and their scattering them about over all their plants simply cripples regular non-union mills and leaves the way open for good missionary work by the strikers in the outlying districts. Mr. James says that he believes that the old Apollo mill is practically idle and that the men there have been sent to other idle plants to start them for the effect that they think it will have on the men now out.

Shaffer Made a Speech.

An eventful day in the steel strike yesterday was closed with the making of a sensational address to an open meeting of steel workers by President Shaffer, of the Amalgamated association. He claimed that the trust had been robbing the union of a few mills at a time, by starving men into submission. President Shaffer addressed the open meeting, held under the auspices of Lafayette lodge, in Lafayette hall, Thirty-seventh and Butler streets.

There were indications of a purpose to start the Painter mill today.

SIMPLE FUNERAL SERVICE.

Ninetieth Psalm and Other Scriptures Read Over Remains of Empress Dowager.

Cronberg, Aug. 9.—The funeral service held at Friedrichshof was simple, but highly impressive. It was performed at the request of the late Dowager empress by the bishop of Ripon, her own chaplain, assisted by the Rev. Thomas Teigmouth Shore, canon of Worcester.

The coffin stood in the death chamber covered with a long black pall and strewn with white roses. At the foot, with bowed head and slightly in advance of the other mourners, stood Emperor William, in the uniform of the Black Hussars, the regiment of the late dowager empress. Just behind him were all the other members of the royal family, except Prince Henry of Prussia. The other mourners, who formed two lines in the rear, included Prince and Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein, Colonel Fritzelwitz, Crown Prince Frederick William's aide, Count von Seckendorff, who was the secretary of the deceased, the Duke of Cambridge, the Grand Duke of Hesse and a few court officials.

The service was conducted entirely without music. It consisted of a portion of the burial service of the church of England, the ninetieth psalm, a reading from the first epistle to the Corinthians and the benediction. The congregation rendered the responses.

Immediately after its conclusion Emperor William and the empress drove back to Homburg. Count von Waldersee will arrive here Saturday to report personally to the emperor, and it is expected he will attend the service on Sunday.

In consequence of the death of the dowager empress, Emperor William has decided not to invite foreign princes to attend the autumn manoeuvres.

The Renown of the Great Author And Physician, Dr. A. W. Chase, Is Accented By East Liverpool People.

It's by the words of the people that Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills have come into such active demand. The announcements for this medicine are not dependent on the testimony of people so far away that they cannot be authenticated—it's home evidence that convinces, because easily substantiated—it's the simple statement of things done and told in the words of the relieved.

Mr. M. Rushton, of No. 387 West Market street, East Liverpool, O., says: "Before I used Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills I got at Larkins' drug store, corner Sixth and East Market streets, I was bilious—head felt achy and dull. The effect of the medicine was to regulate the liver—clear the head—give a feeling of strength, energy and new life. This I think justifies a recommendation."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents a box at dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package.

TROUBLE IN AUSTRIA

SUCCESSION TO THRONE OF DUAL MONARCHY IN DOUBT.

Infant Son of Heir Apparent Eligible to Crown of Hungary, but Not to That of Austria—Caustic Renunciation by Crown Prince.

Trouble in the imperial family of Austria-Hungary has come to be regarded as a matter of course, so the latest announcement that the succession to the throne is in doubt will bring no excitement. This time the uncertainty centers about a little boy baby about 2 months old. The child is the offspring of Prince Francis Ferdinand, heir to the throne of the dual empire, and his morganatic wife, formerly Countess Chotek. Had the baby been of the other sex the trouble would have been averted or, at any rate, simplified. When Prince Francis Ferdinand was married last year to the Countess Chotek, he was hailed as a martyr for love. He married beneath his imperial station. It was even believed that he had given up his hopes of succession. It now transpires that the archduke did not lessen his own claims at all, but merely renounced those of any children he might have. In other words, Francis Ferdinand may succeed to the throne, but his children may not.

This arrangement will work very well in Austria, the laws of which country recognize morganatic marriages.

trading party. Hungary does not recognize morganatic marriages, but holds that they are perfectly valid and as good as any other. Consequently Francis Ferdinand's son by the Countess Chotek is eligible to the throne of Hungary, but not to that of Austria. The countess is now known as the Princess Hohenberg, a title given to her by the emperor, her husband's uncle.

Austria and Hungary are inseparably connected by the agreement that rests the crown of the dual monarchy on one person. There is the crux of the matter. Francis Ferdinand's son cannot be emperor by Austria's law, and he must be king of Hungary if he lives by that of the latter country. Endless possibilities of trouble for the empire are involved in the matter, for the emperor is old and worn out by the cares of state and the recent death of his wife. Francis Ferdinand is very unpopular among his future subjects, and a revolution may drive him from the throne. It is quite possible that the Hungarians will set Prince Hohenberg, as the boy will be known, as the full heir to all his father's honors.

Archduke Francis Ferdinand is the son of the emperor's brother, Archduke Charles Louis, who died in 1896. He is now 38 years of age, and his wife is a few years younger. Their marriage was purely one of love and presented no very serious dynastic questions until the recent birth of their son. The princess, although nonroyal,

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature And of Matters About Town.

A New Arrival—A son has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Erastus Phillips, of Second street.

Pay Car Here—The Cleveland & Pittsburgh pay car passed through the city yesterday afternoon and the employees received their salary for the month of July.

River Again Falling—The marks at the wharf this morning registered 2 feet and falling. The Cricket reached this city at 1 o'clock this morning, but was unable to go farther and her cargo was shipped to Pittsburg by rail.

On the Move—The following movements were handled at the freight station today: Mrs. Hattie Weaver moved to Dunkirk, Ind.; J. H. Windham to Freedom, Pa., and those of Joseph Durbin, of Irondale, and Edward Reghyt, of Peoria, Ill., were received.

Lutherans Enjoyed Themselves—Nearly 10,000 persons attended the Lutherans' reunion at Cascade park, New Castle, yesterday, including about 450 from East Liverpool. The occasion was much enjoyed. The East Liverpool delegation got back at 11:45 last night.

An Inventor's Claim—Mayor Davidson received a letter today from James Meddick, an alleged inventor of Mainville, O., asking the address of the leading manufacturing potters. He claims to have a new process for making pottery ware which will revolutionize the industry.

Badly Afflicted—John Wheeler, of West End, who has been ill for many weeks, is no better. The gentleman has a very peculiar affliction in the from one place to another, and it is from one placeto another, and it is said in time will result in his death. The sick man has been confined to his room for a long time.

Lady's Hat Lost—Yesterday morning as an excursion train was leaving this city for New Castle a young lady was so unfortunate as to loose her hat out of the car window. It was picked up by James Wright, the gateman at Broadway and Second street, and by calling at the watchhouse at the foot of those streets she can secure her bonnet.

Back from Mt. Clemens.

Mrs. William Swindells has returned from Mt. Clemens, where she has been for several weeks in the hope of benefiting her health.

The General Doubted Him.

Commissary General Weston is an explosive old soldier with a red face, a loud voice and a violent manner, says a Washington correspondent. These appearances are deceptive, for he is the best natured soul in the whole war department. During the last session of congress the general met one of the Washington correspondents with whom he was acquainted and asked him when the army bill was going to pass. "I don't know, general," was the reply. "You don't know," vociferated Weston, in the voice of a human cyclone, "but you won't tell! Ordinarily you are glib, loquacious, conversational, communicative, discursive and talkative, but now you are silent, still, supine and dumb, and you ain't saying a word!"

How High Was the Tower of Babel?

The actual height at which the last stone of that famous structure, the Tower of Babel, rested cannot, on account of the remoteness of the times at which it is said to have existed, ever become more than a matter of mere conjecture. Herodotus, who lived about 1,700 years after that "great spiral way to heaven" is said to have been attempted, says that he saw at Babylon a structure consisting of eight towers raised one above another, each 75 feet in height, but whether this ruin was the remains of the Tower of Babel it was even then impossible to ascertain. Herodotus, usually minutely exact in his writing, leaves us in ignorance as to how the upper level of each of these 75 foot towers was reached from the level below.

As might be expected, even in tradition, a wide difference of opinion exists as to the height of the tower. Most orientalists maintain that God did not put a stop to the work until the tower had reached a height of 10,000 fathoms, or about 12 miles. In Ceylonese tradition it is said to have been as high as 20,000 elephants, each standing one above the other. St. Jerome asserts on the authority of persons who had examined the ruins that it did not reach a height exceeding four miles. Other statements are still more extravagant.

Bill Nye on Life Insurance.

The late Bill Nye's indorsement of life insurance is probably the most characteristic paragraph to be quoted from his writings:

"In these days of dynamite and swift changing presidential administrations and dark tunnels through which an engineer goes groping his way at 25 miles per hour, these days of tumbling signs of the times and tipsy telegraph poles, live wires and dead repairers; these days when the politician and the deadly bridge policeman with his pull lie down together under the influence of the same stimulant; these days when death lurks in the air we breathe, the earth we tread, the food we eat, the water—the water we bathe in—I say it behooves us to look well to our insurance and our future state, and I take pleasure in certifying and saying to whom these presents may come that since I became fully insured my health has improved so much that it is a subject for profound congratulation on my own part and the deepest disgust on the part of those who would naturally inherit my vast wealth."

Keeping the Head Clean.

Keeping the head perfectly clean is a great aid to health. An exchange tells of a distinguished physician who, having spent much of his time at quarantine, said that a person whose head was thoroughly washed every day rarely took contagious diseases, but when the hair was allowed to become dirty and matted it was hardly possible to escape infection. Many persons find speedy relief for nervous headache by washing the head thoroughly in weak soda water. We have known cases almost wholly cured in ten minutes by this simple remedy. A friend finds it the greatest relief in case of "rose cold," the cold symptoms entirely leaving the eyes after one thorough washing of the hair. The head should be thoroughly dried afterward, and drafts of air should be avoided for a little while.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature And of Matters About Town.

A New Arrival—A son has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Erasmus Phillips, of Second street.

Pay Car Here—The Cleveland & Pittsburgh pay car passed through the city yesterday afternoon and the employees received their salary for the month of July.

River Again Falling—The marks at the wharf this morning registered 2 feet and falling. The Cricket reached this city at 1 o'clock this morning, but was unable to go farther and her cargo was shipped to Pittsburgh by rail.

On the Move—The following moving parties were handled at the freight station today: Mrs. Hattie Weaver moved to Dunkirk, Ind.; J. H. Windham to Freedom, Pa., and those of Joseph Durbin, of Irondale, and Edward Reghyt, of Peoria, Ill., were received.

Lutherans Enjoyed Themselves—Nearly 10,000 persons attended the Lutherans' reunion at Cascade park, New Castle, yesterday, including about 450 from East Liverpool. The occasion was much enjoyed. The East Liverpool delegation got back at 11:45 last night.

An Inventor's Claim—Mayor Davidson received a letter today from James Meddick, an alleged inventor of Mainville, O., asking the address of the leading manufacturing potters. He claims to have a new process for making pottery ware which will revolutionize the industry.

Badly Afflicted—John Wheeler, of West End, who has been ill for many weeks, is no better. The gentleman has a very peculiar affliction in the form of one place to another, and it is from one place to another, and it is said in time will result in his death. The sick man has been confined to his room for a long time.

Lady's Hat Lost—Yesterday morning as an excursion train was leaving this city for New Castle a young lady was so unfortunate as to loose her hat out of the car window. It was picked up by James Wright, the gateman at Broadway and Second street, and by calling at the watch-house at the foot of those streets she can secure her bonnet.

The General Doubted Him. Commissary General Weston is an explosive old soldier with a red face, a loud voice and a violent manner, says a Washington correspondent. These appearances are deceptive, for he is the best natured soul in the whole war department. During the last session of congress the general met one of the Washington correspondents with whom he was acquainted and asked him when the army bill was going to pass. "I don't know, general," was the reply. "You do know," vociferated Weston, in the voice of a human cyclone, "but you won't tell! Ordinarily you are glib, eloquent, conversational, communicative, discursive and talkative, but now you are silent, still, supine and dumb, and you ain't saying a word!"

How High Was the Tower of Babel?

The actual height at which the last stone of that famous structure, the Tower of Babel, rested cannot, on account of the remoteness of the times at which it is said to have existed, ever become more than a matter of mere conjecture. Herodotus, who lived about 1,700 years after that "great spiral way to heaven" is said to have been attempted, says that he saw at Babylon a structure consisting of eight towers raised one above another, each 75 feet in height, but whether this ruin was the remains of the Tower of Babel it was even then impossible to ascertain. Herodotus, usually minutely exact in his writing, leaves us in ignorance as to how the upper level of each of these 75 foot towers was reached from the level below.

As might be expected, even in tradition, a wide difference of opinion exists as to the height of the tower. Most orientologists maintain that God did not put a stop to the work until the tower had reached a height of 16,000 fathoms, or about 12 miles. In Ceylonese tradition it is said to have been as high as 20,000 elephants, each standing one above the other. St. Jerome asserts on the authority of persons who had examined the ruins that it did not reach a height exceeding four miles. Other statements are still more extravagant.

Bill Nye on Life Insurance.

The late Bill Nye's indorsement of life insurance is probably the most characteristic paragraph to be quoted from his writings:

"In these days of dynamite and swift changing presidential administrations and dark tunnels through which an engineer goes groping his way at 25 miles per hour, these days of tumbling signs of the times and tipsy telegraph poles, live wires and dead repairers; these days when the politician and the dead bridge policeman with his pull lie down together under the influence of the same stimulant; these days when death lurks in the air we breathe, the earth we tread, the food we eat, the water—the water we bathe in—I say it behooves us to look well to our insurance and our future state, and I take pleasure in certifying and saying to whom these presents may come that since I became fully insured my health has improved so much that it is a subject for profound congratulation on my own part and the deepest disgust on the part of those who would naturally inherit my vast wealth."

Keeping the Head Clean.

Keeping the head perfectly clean is a great aid to health. An exchange tells of a distinguished physician who, having spent much of his time at quarantine, said that a person whose head was thoroughly washed every day rarely took contagious diseases, but when the hair was allowed to become dirty and matted it was hardly possible to escape infection. Many persons find speedy relief for nervous headache by washing the head thoroughly in weak soda water. We have known cases almost wholly cured in ten minutes by this simple remedy. A friend finds it the greatest relief in case of "rose cold," the cold symptoms entirely leaving the eyes after one thorough washing of the hair. The head should be thoroughly dried afterward, and drafts of air should be avoided for a little while.

VISITORS SCORED NINE GOOSE EGGS

Result of the Game Between the Junctions and Locals a Big Surprise.

McShane's Fine Pitching Accountable for the Great Victory—Visitors Never Got a Man to Third Base. Another Game Today.

In a one-sided but interesting game, the East Liverpool base ball team defeated the Junctions, of Pittsburg, yesterday afternoon in the first of a series of three games to be played on the West End grounds. Not only were the visitors treated to a shut-out, but not once did one of their men succeed in reaching third base.

Winterhausen, the left-handed pitcher of the Junctions, who has gained a somewhat enviable reputation as a star in the profession, was touched up for 8 hits, only one of the home players failing to connect with the ball. McShane put up one of the best games seen on the home grounds this season. He had perfect control of the ball and did not give a single base on balls. Only four hits were secured off him and these were so scattered they failed to count for anything.

The first inning of the game witnessed a large-sized "chewing match," which was due to a decision made by Umpire John Reark. Taylor, the left fielder of the visiting team, sent a line drive out into right center, which got away from both Reark and Webb. The batter in his anxiety to reach second failed to touch first and after the ball had been returned to the infield it was thrown to Wallace and the runner declared out. A wail of anguish rent the air and the umpire was besieged by the angry Pittsburgers, who questioned the decision. The "kick" was without reason, however, as everybody in the grandstand saw plainly that Taylor had missed the bag on first by almost two feet.

Without being able to follow up the hitting of Taylor, the visitors were retired and the locals then went in for their turn at the bat. Winterhausen's curves did not puzzle "Walsh's Wonders" a little bit and they immediately began to punish the ball. Before being retired in the opening inning two runs were scored.

In the second Reark made a fine catch in center which looked to be good for a three-bagger, at least. Running at full speed he pulled down the fly, greatly to the astonishment of the spectators, who cheered lustily and long. In the fifth McNicol made a fine stop of a hot liner and "nailed" his man at first with ease.

Not until the sixth inning did the scorekeeper have an occasion to tally any more runs. In their half the locals again made an assault on the ball and kept the Pittsburgers running all over the field. As the result of bad errors three runs were scored before the third man was put out. The seventh inning failed to produce any runs for either side and in the eighth the visitors were quickly retired.

One run was made by the home players in their half of the eighth, and then the Junctions came up for their last round. They failed to do anything, however, and were forced to leave the grounds with a "white-washing" to their credit.

Following is the official score:

NOTES OF THE GAME.

It isn't necessary for East Liverpool people to go away from home to see professional ball playing. We have a team right here that can hold its own with the best of 'em.

Davis played a nice game at second. His running catches of two fouls were refreshing to witness.

Godwin made one bad throw to first, but he had to get the ball there quick and the error was excusable. He did some clever work during the game.

McNicol also had an error of the excusable kind. An awkward bound of a grounder fooled him. The error did not cost anything, however.

There wasn't a very large attendance, but there were bushels of enthusiasm.

Though they suffered a galling shutout, the visitors showed they were ball players.

The fielding of the local team was perfect.

Hamilton is a fast outfielder, as is also Taylor. Kane did not once have a chance to "spread" himself.

Well, after all, the Junctions played in hard luck.

Godwin is a veritable bulwark at first. It takes a cannon ball to get away from him.

Phillips is a pretty good player—also a "kicker."

The attempt of the visitors to bluff the umpire into calling Wallace out at first when the catcher caught him off the base after Godwin had hit a tip foul, was little short of ridiculous. Even the small boys knew better.

Reark's fine catch in center made him the hero of the hour.

One of the best features of the game was the splendid catching of Finch. He is certainly O. K.

A game like that of yesterday is worth going miles to see.

MONSTER SNAKE

Which Has Terrorized Farmers Near Wooster Killed in a Barn Near Millbrook.

Wooster, August 9.—The past several weeks there has been great excitement among the residents in the vicinity of this city over the reports of a monster snake. Boys have rushed to town and breathlessly told of seeing or being chased by the huge reptile, but little or no attention was paid to these stories until two responsible men reported having seen the monster, which left a path as though a huge log had been dragged along. One man said it was surely 25 feet long.

A big party of men and boys started out to find the reptile and located it in an abandoned barn near Millbrook. The attack was made with shot guns and clubs and the snake was killed. It measured over 26 feet. It is supposed to have escaped from some circus, two having been in the vicinity this spring.

BREACH OF PROMISE

Is Charged Against a Man Who Is Said to Have Struck a Wedding Guest.

Steubenville, August 9.—Esther Novinsky has begun suit against Meyer Wasserman, of Pittsburg, for $5,000 damages, charging breach of promise to marry on August 4. Wasserman, it is alleged, objected to the rabbi in attendance and struck one of the wedding party who tried to argue the matter with him.

He was arrested and has been languishing in jail until yesterday, when bail was furnished by a brother from Zanesville.

He was walking from the telegraph office to his engine along a side track when he was struck by a pilot of a passing engine. Several ribs were broken and he also sustained several serious bruises. One of his lungs was injured and his condition is critical.

Steubenville, Aug. 9.—Patrick Feehey, a conductor on the Panhandle railroad, met with an accident at Collier's siding which may cause his death.

He was walking from the telegraph office to his engine along a side track when he was struck by a pilot of a passing engine. Several ribs were broken and he also sustained several serious bruises. One of his lungs was injured and his condition is critical.

A Palatial Summer Home. Wellsburg, W. Va., August 9.—The dwelling house and other buildings being erected by J. B. Vandergrift, of Pittsburg, on his newly bought estate near Lazearville, W. Va., are nearing completion. "Vancroft Place," as it is called, contains 400 acres, one-half mile northeast of Wellsburg.

A BATTLESHIP MAY BE SENT

Wisconsin Will Be Dispatched to the Isthmus If It Is Needed There.

SHE NOW HAS HER ORDERS

To Proceed to San Francisco to Be in Readiness to Take a Hand in Affairs at Panama—Navy Department's Decision on the Matter.

Washington, Aug. 9.—An order was sent Thursday to Captain George C. Reiter, of the battleship Wisconsin, now at Annapolis, near the Puget Sound naval station, to proceed to San Francisco, from which point the battleship will be dispatched to Panama, in case the state department requests the presence of a warship on the Pacific side of the Isthmus. This action was taken after Acting Secretary Hackett had received from the state department a communication from Mr. J. Edward Simmons, of New York, resident of the Panama Railroad company, setting forth the seriousness of the situation on the Isthmus, and suggesting that warships be sent both to the Atlantic and the Pacific side.

Mr. Adey, the acting secretary of state, replied to Mr. Simmons that the gunboat Machias had been ordered to Colon, on the Atlantic side, but it was the view of officials, during the early part of the day, both at the state and navy departments, that there was no present necessity for sending down a ship on the Pacific side. For this reason Mr. Adey made no request on the navy department for another ship, but as a matter of information he transmitted the letter from Mr. Simmons to the acting head of the navy department.

While this was not a request for a ship, yet Mr. Hackett felt that it was quite desirable to have one in readiness to go, should the request be made. He therefore directed that the order be sent to the Wisconsin to come down to San Francisco and there await further orders.

Looking For Ice Water. At his morning service the pastor of a prominent church in Baltimore on a recent hot Sunday selected his text from a verse of Scripture relative to wells of everlasting life. Between the intense heat and the vivid pictures of cooling water drawn the one thought of the audience was an opportunity to get a cooling drink, and when at the end of the discourse the speaker announced that at the close of the service a supply of ice water would be found in the room to his right many of the hearers felt their lives had been saved. In view of the fact that there were three rooms to the speaker's right the exact location of the water supply was a trifle vague, but as soon as the benediction was pronounced a procession led by an enterprising parishioner started in search of it. After much trouble and vain hunting it was found that the janitor had removed the water cooler to the main entrance of the church so as to have it handy for everybody.

VISITORS SCORED NINE GOOSE EGGS

Result of the Game Between the Junctions and Locals a Big Surprise.

McShane's Fine Pitching Accountable for the Great Victory — Visitors Never Got a Man to Third Base. Another Game Today.

In a one-sided but interesting game, the East Liverpool base ball team defeated the Junctions, of Pittsburg, yesterday afternoon in the first of a series of three games to be played on the West End grounds. Not only were the visitors treated to a shut-out, but not once did one of their men succeed in reaching third base.

Winterhausen, the left-handed pitcher of the Junctions, who has gained a somewhat enviable reputation as a star in the profession, was touched up for 8 hits, only one of the home players failing to connect with the ball. McShane put up one of the best games seen on the home grounds this season. He had perfect control of the ball and did not give a single base on balls. Only four hits were secured off him and these were so scattered they failed to count for anything.

The first inning of the game witnessed a large-sized "chewing match," which was due to a decision made by Umpire John Reark. Taylor, the left fielder of the visiting team, sent a line drive out into right center, which got away from both Reark and Webb. The batter in his anxiety to reach second failed to touch first and after the ball had been returned to the infield it was thrown to Wallace and the runner declared out. A wail of anguish rent the air and the umpire was besieged by the angry Pittsburgers, who questioned the decision. The "kick" was without reason, however, as everybody in the grandstand saw plainly that Taylor had missed the bag on first by almost two feet.

Without being able to follow up the hitting of Taylor, the visitors were retired and the locals then went in for their turn at the bat. Winterhausen's curves did not puzzle "Walsh's Wonders" a little bit and they immediately began to punish the ball. Before being retired in the opening inning two runs were scored.

In the second Reark made a fine catch in center which looked to be good for a three-bagger, at least. Running at full speed he pulled down the fly, greatly to the astonishment of the spectators, who cheered lustily and long. In the fifth McNicol made a fine stop of a hot liner and "nailed" his man at first with ease.

Not until the sixth inning did the scorekeeper have an occasion to tally any more runs. In their half the locals again made an assault on the ball and kept the Pittsburgers running all over the field. As the result of bad errors three runs were scored before the third man was put out. The seventh inning failed to produce any runs for either side and in the eighth the visitors were quickly retired.

One run was made by the home players in their half of the eighth, and then the Junctions came up for their last round. They failed to do anything, however, and were forced to leave the grounds with a "white-washing" to their credit.

Following is the official score:

NOTES OF THE GAME.

It isn't necessary for East Liverpool people to go away from home to see professional ball playing. We have a team right here that can hold its own with the best of 'em.

Davis played a nice game at second. His running catches of two fouls were refreshing to witness.

Godwin made one bad throw to first, but he had to get the ball there quick and the error was excusable. He did some clever work during the game.

McNicol also had an error of the excusable kind. An awkward bound of a grounder fooled him. The error did not cost anything, however.

There wasn't a very large attendance, but there were bushels of enthusiasm.

Though they suffered a galling shutout, the visitors showed they were ball players.

The fielding of the local team was perfect.

Hamilton is a fast outfielder, as is also Taylor. Kane did not once have a chance to "spread" himself.

Well, after all, the Junctions played in hard luck.

Godwin is a veritable bulwark at first. It takes a cannon ball to get away from him.

Phillips is a pretty good player—also a "kicker."

The attempt of the visitors to bluff the umpire into calling Wallace out at first when the catcher caught him off the base after Godwin had hit a tip foul, was little short of ridiculous. Even the small boys knew better.

Reark's fine catch in center made him the hero of the hour.

One of the best features of the game was the splendid catching of Finch. He is certainly O. K.

MONSTER SNAKE

Which Has Terrorized Farmers Near Wooster Killed in a Barn Near Millbrook.

Wooster, August 9.—The past several weeks there has been great excitement among the residents in the vicinity of this city over the reports of a monster snake. Boys have rushed to town and breathlessly told of seeing or being chased by the huge reptile, but little or no attention was paid to these stories until two responsible men reported having seen the monster, which left a path as though a huge log had been dragged along. One man said it was surely 25 feet long.

A big party of men and boys started out to find the reptile and located it in an abandoned barn near Millbrook. The attack was made with shot guns and clubs and the snake was killed. It measured over 20 feet. It is supposed to have escaped from some circus, two having been in the vicinity this spring.

BREACH OF PROMISE

Is Charged Against a Man Who Is Said to Have Struck a Wedding Guest.

Steubenville, August 9.—Esther Novinsky has begun suit against Meyer Wasserman, of Pittsburg, for $5,000 damages, charging breach of promise to marry on August 4. Wasserman, it is alleged, objected to the rabbi in attendance and struck one of the wedding party who tried to argue the matter with him.

He was arrested and has been languishing in jail until yesterday, when bail was furnished by a brother from Zanesville.

PANHANDLE CONDUCTOR

Injured at Steubenville And May Lose His Life.

Steubenville, Aug 9.—Patrick Feehey, a conductor on the Panhandle railroad, met with an accident at Collier's siding which may cause his death.

He was walking from the telegraph office to his engine along a side track when he was struck by a pilot of a passing engine. Several ribs were broken and he also sustained several serious bruises. One of his lungs was injured and his condition is critical.

SHE NOW HAS HER ORDERS

Washington, Aug. 9.—An order was sent Thursday to Captain George C. NO CHURCH QUESTION

In the Philippines, Said Gen. MacArthur In His Report.

Thousands Held, Reported Major Sweet—Kobbe Says Masters and Slaves Are on Terms of Social Equality—Aguinaldo's Capture.

Washington, Aug. 9.—General MacArthur, in the course of a report to the war department, says the capture of Aguinaldo may be regarded as the most momentous single event of the year. The capture dispelled the growing tendency to idealize Aguinaldo's personality and to surround him with mythical legends of invincibility, which millions of natives believed to be true, and which ultimately would insure success for the rebellion. Aguinaldo was the incarnation of the insurrection. His death would have magnified the legend which surrounded him, while his capture has dispelled a great deal of the fictitious value he had.

General MacArthur speaks of the great confusion regarding a money medium in the Philippines, which is characteristic of the eastern world, and favors the recommendations of Colonel E. H. Crowder, military secretary, for a coinage system to meet the conditions existing in the islands.

After discussing the various contentions regarding the friars, General MacArthur says:

"Properly speaking, and in broad scope, there is no church question in the Philippines. Under conservative procedure, and if no extra constitutional methods are invoked, there is nothing presented of a serious import or calculated to cause any considerable public concern."

General MacArthur says the Filipino will work when properly paid, and the Chinese are not necessary as laborers, as has been claimed. He recommends the gradual decrease of the Chinese now in the islands.

Under normal conditions, he says, American trade will increase with the growth of American ideas and intelligence throughout the archipelago. Speaking of the conditions in the Orient, General MacArthur says:

"The power that holds these islands must of necessity exert an active and potential influence upon the affairs of Asia."

Colonel S. W. Groesbeck, judge advocate of the division of the Philippines, says that since Sept. 1, 1900, 79 natives have paid, with the death penalty, the debt of murder, arson, assassination and treachery, while 89 others, sentenced for similar offenses, are now serving terms of life imprisonment.

Refers to Commissary Frauds.

Colonel J. A. Woodruff, chief commissary, reports that his department has supplied nearly 100,000 persons with food. The sale of stores in the city of Manila amounted to $40,000 a month. He says that the present army ration is about perfect for the service in the tropics. Colonel Woodruff discusses at some length the charges of commissary frauds in the Philippines, and refers to the action taken in the conviction of two officers and three commissary sergeants. The losses on the part of the officer was $312 and the sergeants $828.

Colonel Charles R. Greenleaf, chief surgeon, says the health of the troops continues to be good and the ration of non-effectives has decreased. The most serious feature, according to Colonel Greenleaf, is the steady increase in venereal diseases among the troops.

He said that there is not much disability among the soldiers from alcoholism.

Brigadier General W. A. Kobbe, commanding the department of Mindanao and Jolo, regarding slavery, says:

"Slavery, as the term is usually understood, does not exist among the Moros, and radical and comprehensive measures to abolish it would at this time be premature and ineffective. The slaves and masters belong to the same race and live on equal social terms. It has been impossible to obtain any information regarding the number of slaves held anywhere."

General MacArthur gave statistics from May 5, 1900, to June 30, 1901, during which time there were 1,026 contacts between American troops and insurgents, which show the casualties on both sides:

Americans—Killed, 245; wounded, 490; captured, 118; missing, 20. Insurgents—Killed, 2,854; wounded, 1,133; captured, 6,572; surrendered, 23,095.

General MacArthur spoke of the good service of the army, and says as a result of the co-operation between the army and the people who have accepted the invitation to combine for mutual protection the armed insurrection is almost suppressed.

Bottles.

In using bottles these two hints ought to be so borne in mind that the practice of them becomes habitual:

Always keep the label uppermost when pouring from a bottle, so that if any liquid trickles down the side the label misses it. Result—your labels keep clean and legible for much longer.

Secondly, if you want to deliver drops (or a very small quantity) of liquid just moisten the lip of the bottle with the finger.—Exchange.

Trouble Either Way.

Mrs. De Good—Why aren't you going to church?

Mr. De Good—Last Sunday the roof leaked, and three or four drops went down my back.

Mrs. De Good—The roof has been repaired since then.

Mr. De Good—Huh! Then they'll be wanting money to pay for the repairs.—New York Weekly.

WOMAN AND FASHION

Attractive Summer Gown.

The gown here sketched is of light blue muslin, with the long skirt beautifully cut, but finished without trimming. The bodice has a deep rounded yoke and open bolero cut in points of the muslin. The full vest and point-

The ribbon grilling is used to adorn the edges of the bolero, while a rosette of much wider ribbon is placed on the bust. The belt is of ribbon, the collar band muslin, and the elbow sleeves are trimmed with points of esprit edged with velvet ribbon. — Philadelphia Ledger.

Dress Trivialities.

Most beautiful are the belts that are seen now, and especially pretty are those of metal work blended with tones of gold and bronze. An instance admired the other day on a smart frock had the eyes of peacock's tail feathers most deliciously executed on it, while the plaque was a representation of breast and wing feathers in enamel. This belt would be suitable to wear with either a cloth or lace dress, says Home Chat. Lace is less seen as the facing of revers than this time last year except when embroidered with gold, silver and colored silks. Old fashioned muslins wrought with embroidery are going to trim summer time's cambric shirts. Buckles are not to be allowed any rest.

Dresses Growing Shorter.

It is a noteworthy fact that dresses are gradually growing shorter and less cumbersome, a blessing in the matter of street robes. It must not be imagined from this that walking toilets are to be unequivocally short, but simply that they will be more reasonable, says the Chicago Record-Herald. Reception gowns, visiting gowns and house gowns, on the other hand, are a trifle longer than they have been through the last season, a circumstance that will hardly be objected to by women who have mastered the coquettish art of handling a train.

Tight Bodices Banished.

It is extraordinary how we have banished the tight bodice from the list of fashionable garments. A few seasons ago our "best" frocks were somewhat painful to wear, but now we can don them with a feeling of unbounded joy and satisfaction, for our bodices are cut in blouse form—that is to say, they have a lining—but it is a soft one and almost free from bones, and the outer fabric falls loose, becoming folds, while the vest is sure to be of lace or some transparent material, which is cool and comfortable as well as becoming.

A STORY OF A NOSE

It was at the masquerade. Weary with dancing I threw myself into a seat. A pretty hand accidentally touched mine.

"I beg your pardon." "The pardon is granted," I said, smiling. I had taken off my mask on account of the oppressive heat and did not object to revealing my identity to the charming person at my side.

"How I love poetry!" she exclaimed, toying with her fan. Fancy Titania with a fan! "Will you make me the subject of a sonnet?"

The question came so coquettishly, those eyes gazed into mine so beseechingly, that I involuntarily said, "Yes, certainly, but I must know your name." "My name?" she repeated. "How stupid! Can't you invent one which will suit your fancy? Call me Verona or Jessica."

"Or Titania," I suggested. "But, dear Titania, lift that hideous mask and let me gaze into your countenance. Let me know who it is that honors me with her society."

"No, you will not thank me for showing my features. I assure you I am very ugly."

"Impossible!" I cried. "Were a man to venture such an assertion I swear I would punch his head. You ugly? It cannot be."

"Believe me, sir, I am a sight to behold. If you saw my face, you would flee from my presence. I value your company too highly to drive you from my side."

"What consummate cruelty!" I exclaimed. "I am sure you are beautiful. I have seen all your features but your nose. Well, I ask in the name of all the powers is it possible for a nose to destroy the combined effect of so many charms? Please remove the mask."

"Well," said my fairy, with a merry laugh, "I shall do as you desire. Receive as your just punishment the task of untying my mask."

I was aware of a surprising nervousness as I bent over that delicate head and untied the strings. Then for the next few moments I stood transfixed. What a nose! It was a wonderful freak of nature. The height of our Bunker Hill monument, the immensity of our Niagara falls, the magnitude of our last river and harbor bill, all dwindled down into insignificance when compared with that nose. It was a sphinx, a pyramid, a monster of such hideous aspect, that I shuddered.

I felt discomfited, and, suddenly recollecting an engagement with a friend, I hastened off without daring to gaze upon my enchantress, who in the meantime was laughing in the most unconcerned manner possible. This female Cyrano de Bergerac had evidently become reconciled to her misfortune. On reaching the foyer I fell into a seat and tried to reflect. "Is the government powerless," I thought, "to prevent such outrages, such terrorism?"

A waiter approached me and asked me if I would have something to eat. Mechanically I gave him an order, which was soon served. While eating I tried to forget the monster I had exercised. Good heavens! It approached me, the nose, faithfully backed by Titania, leaning upon the arm of a man disguised like an Indian. It was too late to slip under the table, for she had already seen me, and, approaching me with a bewildering smile which took in all her features except her nose, she said:

"How quickly you deserted me. I feared something had happened to you."

She laughed. Oh, if the Indian had but laughed! I should have vented my feelings on him, but he was as sober as an owl.

After the first shock was over I felt sorry for the unfortunate creature and rather ashamed of my abrupt conduct.

"Will you forgive me," I asked, "for deserting you so unceremoniously?" "Certainly," she replied. "Did I not predict it? You will admit at all events that I am hideous."

"I will admit nothing of the kind," I replied gallantly as I caught a glance of her bright eyes, "but I would suggest an operation."

Before I had time to recover from my astonishment she had taken the Indian's arm and had disappeared.

I sought for her in vain during the entire night, but every trace of her was lost. I returned home disconsolate, chiding myself for a fool, and all night I followed her in my dreams, a fleeting vision of loveliness, with a perfect nose.

How we met again might form the subject of another and more romantic story, for Titania is now quite happy as Mrs. Soby.—Boston Traveler.

When Stovepipes Were Scarce.

One of the old settlers of Kansas tells the Beloit Gazette of an incident in his pioneer days which illustrates the scarcity of materials with which the early settlers had to contend and particularly of that very common household necessity, pipe for stoves. After moving his family into a dugout on his claim the old settler found that he did not have pipe enough to reach through the roof. So the pipe was extended through a window, where it performed its function very well save when the wind was blowing from the direction in which it was pointed. On these occasions the stove would be moved to the other side of the room and the pipe extended through another window, and the old settler says it was a common remark in his household all through the first winter to have some one say, "Come, boys, let's shift the stove over."

Pingree and Mosby.

When Hazen S. Pingree was coming into prominence in Michigan politics, he was in Washington one night and strolled through the corridors of Ward's hotel, which he had not visited since war times, when it was the popular rendezvous of the city, political, military and otherwise. A friend introduced him to Colonel Mosby, the old guerrilla chieftain.

"Why, hello, colonel," said Pingree in his bluff, offhanded way, just as if he was in the habit of meeting Mosby every day. "I have not seen you for 25 years, but I remember very well the last occasion when we met."

"Ah," said the Virginian politely, "what incident recalls it to your mind? I really fail to remember you, much to my regret."

"Oh, well," said Pingree, "you would not be so apt as I to remember the day. I was captured by your men, and, happening to be wearing a very good, nearly new uniform, you confiscated it on the spot and gave me your old ragged butternut. But that's all right. All's fair in love and war, I know. Let's have a cigar."

Without a word of protest Mosby accepted, and a long friendly chat followed.

NO CHURCH QUESTION

In the Philippines, Said Gen. MacArthur In His Report.

Thousands Held, Reported Major Sweet—Kobbe Says Masters and Slaves Are on Terms of Social Equality—Aguinaldo's Capture.

Washington, Aug. 9.—General MacArthur, in the course of a report to the war department, says the capture of Aguinaldo may be regarded as the most momentous single event of the year. The capture dispelled the growing tendency to idealize Aguinaldo's personality and to surround him with mythical legends of invincibility, which millions of natives believed to be true, and which ultimately would insure success for the rebellion. Aguinaldo was the incarnation of the insurrection. His death would have magnified the legend which surrounded him, while his capture has dispelled a great deal of the fictitious value he had.

General MacArthur speaks of the great confusion regarding a money medium in the Philippines, which is characteristic of the eastern world, and favors the recommendations of Colonel E. H. Crowder, military secretary, for a coinage system to meet the conditions existing in the islands.

Practically No Church Question.

After discussing the various contentions regarding the friars, General MacArthur says:

"Properly speaking, and in broad scope, there is no church question in the Philippines. Under conservative procedure, and if no extra constitutional methods are invoked, there is nothing presented of a serious import or calculated to cause any considerable public concern."

General MacArthur says the Filipino will work when properly paid, and the Chinese are not necessary as laborers, as has been claimed. He recommends the gradual decrease of the Chinese now in the islands.

Under normal conditions, he says, American trade will increase with the growth of American ideas and intelligence throughout the archipelago.

Speaking of the conditions in the Orient, General MacArthur says: "The power that holds these islands must of necessity exert an active and potential influence upon the affairs of Asia."

Colonel S. W. Groesbeck, judge advocate of the division of the Philippines, says that since Sept. 1, 1900, 79 natives have paid, with the death penalty, the debt of murder, arson, assassination and treachery, while 89 others, sentenced for similar offenses, are now serving terms of life imprisonment.

Refers to Commissary Frauds.

Colonel J. A. Woodruff, chief commissary, reports that his department has supplied nearly 100,000 persons with food. The sale of stores in the city of Manila amounted to $40,000 a month. He says that the present army ration is about perfect for the service in the tropics. Colonel Woodruff discusses at some length the charges of commissary frauds in the Philippines, and refers to the action taken in the conviction of two officers and three commissary sergeants. The losses on the part of the officer was $312 and the sergeants $828.

Colonel Charles R. Greenleaf, chief surgeon, says the health of the troops continues to be good and the ration of non-effectives has decreased. The most serious feature, according to Colonel Greenleaf, is the steady increase in venereal diseases among the troops.

He said that there is not much disability among the soldiers from alcoholism.

Brigadier General W. A. Kobbe, commanding the department of Mindanao and Jolo, regarding slavery, says:

"Slavery, as the term is usually understood, does not exist among the Moros, and radical and comprehensive measures to abolish it would at this time be premature and ineffective. The slaves and masters belong to the same race and live on equal social terms. It has been impossible to obtain any information regarding the number of slaves held anywhere."

General MacArthur gave statistics from May 5, 1900, to June 30, 1901, (during which time there were 1,026 contacts between American troops and insurgents) which show the casualties on both sides:

Americans—Killed, 245; wounded, 490; captured, 118; missing, 20. Insurgents—Killed, 2,854; wounded, 1,193; captured, 6,572; surrendered, 23,095.

General MacArthur spoke of the good service of the army, and says as a result of the co-operation between the army and the people who have accepted the invitation to combine for mutual protection the armed insurrection is almost suppressed.

Bottles.

In using bottles these two hints ought to be so borne in mind that the practice of them becomes habitual:

Always keep the label uppermost when pouring from a bottle, so that if any liquid trickles down the side the label misses it. Result—your labels keep clean and legible for much longer.

Secondly, if you want to deliver drops (or a very small quantity) of liquid just moisten the lip of the bottle with the finger.—Exchange.

Trouble Either Way.

Mrs. De Good—Why aren't you going to church?

Mr. De Good—Last Sunday the roof leaked, and three or four drops went down my back.

Mrs. De Good—The roof has been repaired since then.

Mr. De Good—Huh! Then they'll be wanting money to pay for the repairs. —New York Weekly.

Attractive Summer Gown.

The gown here sketched is of light blue muslin, with the long skirt beautifully cut, but finished without trimming. The bodice has a deep rounded yoke and open bolero cut in points of the muslin. The full vest and pointed collar are of white point d'esprit, the collar being edged with a grilling of black velvet ribbon. The ribbon grilling is used to adorn the edges of the bolero, while a rosette of much wider ribbon is placed on the bust. The belt is of ribbon, the collar band muslin, and the elbow sleeves are trimmed with points of esprit edged with velvet ribbon. —Philadelphia Ledger.

Dress Trivialities.

Most beautiful are the belts that are seen now, and especially pretty are those of metal work blended with tones of gold and bronze. An instance admired the other day on a smart frock had the eyes of peacock's tail feathers most deliciously executed on it, while the plaque was a representation of breast and wing feathers in enamel. This belt would be suitable to wear with either a cloth or lace dress, says Home Chat. Lace is less seen as the facing of revers than this time last year except when embroidered with gold, silver and colored silks. Old fashioned muslins wrought with embroidery are going to trim summer time's cambric shirts. Buckles are not to be allowed any rest.

Dresses Growing Shorter.

It is a noteworthy fact that dresses are gradually growing shorter and less cumbersome, a blessing in the matter of street robes. It must not be imagined from this that walking toilets are to be unequivocally short, but simply that they will be more reasonable, says the Chicago Record-Herald. Reception gowns, visiting gowns and house gowns, on the other hand, are a trifle longer than they have been through the last season, a circumstance that will hardly be objected to by women who have mastered the coquettish art of handling a train.

Tight Bodices Banished.

It is extraordinary how we have banished the tight bodice from the list of fashionable garments. A few seasons ago our "best" frocks were somewhat painful to wear, but now we can don them with a feeling of unbounded joy and satisfaction, for our bodices are cut in blouse form—that is to say, they have a lining—but it is a soft one and almost free from bones, and the outer fabric falls loose, becoming folds, while the vest is sure to be of lace or some transparent material, which is cool and comfortable as well as becoming.

with blue. The corselet is formed of an arrangement of bands of black satin, and the waist band is of the same material. This frill and lower sleeves are of ecru lace.—Paris Herald.

A STORY OF A NOSE

It was at the masquerade. Weary with dancing I threw myself into a seat. A pretty hand accidentally touched mine.

"I beg your pardon." "The pardon is granted," I said, smiling. I had taken off my mask on account of the oppressive heat and did not object to revealing my identity to the charming person at my side.

"How I love poetry!" she exclaimed, toying with her fan. Fancy Titania with a fan! "Will you make me the subject of a sonnet?"

The question came so coquettishly, those eyes gazed into mine so beseechingly, that I involuntarily said, "Yes, certainly, but I must know your name." "My name?" she repeated. "How stupid! Can't you invent one which will suit your fancy? Call me Verona or Jessica."

"Or Titania," I suggested. "But, dear Titania, lift that hideous mask and let me gaze into your countenance. Let me know who it is that honors me with her society."

"No, you will not thank me for showing my features. I assure you I am very ugly."

"Impossible!" I cried. "Were a man to venture such an assertion I swear I would punch his head. You ugly? It cannot be."

"What consummate cruelty!" I exclaimed. "I am sure you are beautiful. I have seen all your features but your nose. Well, I ask in the name of all the powers it is possible for a nose to destroy the combined effect of so many charms? Please remove the mask."

"Well," said my fairy, with a merry laugh, "I shall do as you desire. Receive as your just punishment the task of untying my mask."

I was aware of a surprising nervousness as I bent over that delicate head and untied the strings. Then for the next few moments I stood transfixed. What a nose! It was a wonderful freak of nature. The height of our Bunker Hill monument, the immensity of our Niagara falls, the magnitude of our last river and harbor bill, all dwindle down into insignificance when compared with that nose. It was a sphinx, a pyramid, a monster of such hideous aspect, that I shuddered.

I felt discomfited, and, suddenly recollecting an engagement with a friend, I hastened off without daring to gaze upon my enchantress, who in the meantime was laughing in the most unconcerned manner possible. This female Cyrano de Bergerac had evidently become reconciled to her misfortune. On reaching the foyer I fell into a seat and tried to reflect. "Is the government powerless," I thought, "to prevent such outrages, such terrorism?"

A waiter approached me and asked me if I would have something to eat. Mechanically I gave him an order, which was soon served. While eating I tried to forget the monster I had excoriated. Good heavens! It approached me, the nose, faithfully backed by Titania, leaning upon the arm of a man disguised like an Indian. It was too late to slip under the table, for she had already seen me, and, approaching me with a bewildering smile which took in all her features except her nose, she said:

"How quickly you deserted me. I feared something had happened to you."

She laughed. Oh, if the Indian had but laughed! I should have vented my feelings on him, but he was as sober as an owl.

After the first shock was over I felt sorry for the unfortunate creature and rather ashamed of my abrupt conduct. "Will you forgive me," I asked, "for deserting you so unceremoniously?"

"Certainly," she replied. "Did I not predict it? You will admit at all events that I am hideous."

"I will admit nothing of the kind," I replied gallantly as I caught a glance of her bright eyes, "but I would suggest an operation."

Titania gave a gentle pull, and the nose remained in her hand, revealing her true features as pretty as the rest of her face.

Before I had time to recover from my astonishment she had taken the Indian's arm and had disappeared.

I sought for her in vain during the entire night, but every trace of her was lost. I returned home disconsolate, chiding myself for a fool, and all night I followed her in my dreams, a fleeting vision of loveliness, with a perfect nose.

How we met again might form the subject of another and more romantic story, for Titania is now quite happy as Mrs. Soby.—Boston Traveler.

When Stovepipes Were Scarce.

One of the old settlers of Kansas tells the Beloit Gazette of an incident in his pioneer days which illustrates the scarcity of materials with which the early settlers had to contend and particularly of that very common household necessity, pipe for stoves. After moving his family into a dugout on his claim the old settler found that he did not have pipe enough to reach through the roof. So the pipe was extended through a window, where it performed its function very well save when the wind was blowing from the direction in which it was pointed. On these occasions the stove would be moved to the other side of the room and the pipe extended through another window, and the old settler says it was a common remark in his household all through the first winter to have some one say, "Come, boys, let's shift the stove over."

Pingree and Mosby.

When Hazen S. Pingree was coming into prominence in Michigan politics, he was in Washington one night and strolled through the corridors of Ward's hotel, which he had not visited since war times, when it was the popular rendezvous of the city, political, military and otherwise. A friend introduced him to Colonel Mosby, the old guerilla chieftain.

"Why, hello, colonel," said Pingree in his bluff, offhanded way, just as if he was in the habit of meeting Mosby every day. "I have not seen you for 25 years, but I remember very well the last occasion when we met."

"Ah," said the Virginian politely, "what incident recalls it to your mind? I really fail to remember you, much to my regret."

"Oh, well," said Pingree, "you would not be so apt as I to remember the day. I was captured by your men, and, happening to be wearing a very good, nearly new uniform, you confiscated it on the spot and gave me your old ragged buttonnits. But that's all right. All's fair in love and war, I know. Let's have a cigar."

Without a word of protest Mosby accepted, and a long friendly chat followed.

BLOW AT THE TRUST

Intended by K. of L. Assembly,
No. 66, at Wash-

TO PROCEED AGAINST, KNOX,

To Show Why He Hasn't Enforced
Sherman Law Provisions—Monnett
Retained by Anti-Trust League to Bring Action in Ohio.

Washington, Aug. 9.—District Assembly No. 66, of the Knights of Labor, last night authorized its legislative committee to bring quo warranto proceedings against the attorney general of the United States, to show cause why he has not enforced the provisions of the anti-trust law, known as the Sherman act. This action, which will be instituted today, is aimed at the United States Steel corporation, which will be, it is alleged, operation in violation of the Sherman act. Labor leaders in this city say this will hasten a solution of the strike now in progress.

They say that laws similar or nearly similar to the Sherman law have been enacted in nearly all the states, and in several of them, notably in Ohio and Texas, the county attorneys have the power of the attorney general of the state in quo warranto proceedings and that the Amalgamated association has a large fund on hand with which to institute proceedings similar to those to be begun here.

TEN PERSONS WERE INJURED.

Third Section of an Atlantic City Excursion on B. & O. Ran Into Second Section.

Pittsburg, Aug. 9.—The second section of an Atlantic City excursion train on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad was run into by the third section at Confluence, and 10 persons were injured. None of the injuries are reported to be of a serious nature, except those of Fireman Slamon, who was on the rear engine. He was badly crushed and may die.

The following is the list of injured: P. J. Collins, of Youngstown, right leg badly crushed.

Mrs. P. J. Collins, arm and leg badly bruised.

Two-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Collins, bruised about the body.

J. H. Lewis, of New Castle, arm hurt.

Mrs. J. H. Lewis, head injured and left arm sprained.

A. G. Shaw, of No. 6208 Butler street, Pittsburg, badly cut about the head.

Miss Helen Lemont, of No. 37 Logan street, Pittsburg, injured about the head.

Miss Dora Hartzell, of New Castle, both limbs bruised.

John C. Stillwagon, superintendent of the Conneville water works, injured about the head and crushed.

Fireman Slamon, cut and bruised over the body.

The injured, except the fireman, are at the hotel at Confluence, and according to the latest reports are resting easy.

For some reason it seems that the flagman did not go back far enough, and although the engineer of the third section saw the signal, he did not have time on account of the weight of the train behind him to stop. The last two sections were the Atlantic City excursion trains and were not making any of the regular stops, so that the third section was running at a fast rate.

The engineer made every effort to check the speed of his train, but he hardly had time to throw on the air-brake when the rear end of the train ahead of him came into view. When he saw that a collision was inevitable he called to his fireman to jump and then jumped himself. He escaped with a few bruises, but the fireman, Slamon, was so badly injured that it is thought he will not recover.

WASHINGTON LETTER

[Special Correspondence.]

"Washington is certainly a city of souvenirs," said Mr. Robert M. Houck of Pittsburg to the correspondent. "You can get the profile of the Father of His Country in chewed up thousand dollar bills for 15 cents or the only 'American National Spoon' for $4.98. Souvenir hats, umbrellas, canes, capitol, library, White House, Washington monument, Mount Vernon and 100 other varieties of souvenirs are as thick as toothpicks in a cheap lunchroom. When I walk along your business streets, the shop windows remind me of one of the big international expositions.

"There seems to be something which appeals to humanity in the souvenir business. I laugh at the appalling number of the things which are got up for the sole purpose of enticing the stranger within your gates, but I buy souvenirs all the same. I have a chip from the Washington monument and all the rest of them, and I know that when I get home my wife will put some around the house, and people will be interested, and she will be proud of them. Then the children will take their share, the youngsters the vicious looking poodle dog, made of macerated greenbacks, and the big girls the spoons, and generally I will make a hit. It is a strange business when you come to think of it, but it is one that appeals to every one away from home and in a place of note. My own choice is for photographs, and I have found them the best, most lasting and most valuable mementoes of the places I want to remember."

Japan's Chinese Indemnity.

President McKinley is expected back in Washington within a short time for a talk with his cabinet officials and for the transaction of any business that may demand his personal attention here. There are some features of the Chinese problem that may have to be passed upon by the president. It is said that nothing has been heard at the state department from Commissioner Rockhill in regard to the hitch over the Japanese indemnity, which seems to be the only stumbling block in the completion of arrangements. Japan, it will be recalled, contented herself with the extremely modest indemnity of $24,000,000, which represented the obligations actually incurred by her relief and other expeditions. When she came to arrange for the floating of the Chinese 4 per cent bonds with which the indemnities were to be paid, she found they would not command in her market more than 86 per cent of their face value. She accordingly went back to the powers to ask for an increase to make good the 14 per cent discount. To this the powers were not ready to agree, and Russia was particularly hostile. The attitude of the United States, which Mr. Rockhill has represented, has been that this extra allowance to Japan will be fair, and we have been willing to grant it if the other powers would agree. The commissioner's silence is thought to indicate difficulty in reaching an agreement.

Runs in the Family.

The announcement by Charles H. Allen that he will not return to Porto Rico and the certainty that William H. Hunt will succeed him as governor recall the fact that Mr. Hunt comes of a family of insular colonial dignitaries. Thomas Hunt, his great-grandfather, was an Englishman and acting governor of the Bermudas on several occasions by virtue of his position as a member of the upper council of that colony for a number of years, beginning with 1756. A son of Thomas Hunt, named Robert, became a resident of the Bahamas and held various high offices there, among others the presidency of the king's council, which made him acting governor on two occasions somewhere about 1790. The present colonial representative of the family began, like the Hunts of the earlier generations, with an office below the highest and has served as acting governor during the absence of his chief, but when he holds the president's commission as governor he will have eclipsed them in actual rank.

More Asphalt For Washington.

Mr. P. R. Quinlan of Syracuse and the Warner-Quinlan Asphalt company has come to Washington to look after some details in connection with carrying out the contract awarded his company by the District government to pave 62,000 square yards of streets in Washington. He said:

"We are erecting a plant for this work on the grounds of the Brennan Construction company here and expect to be able to undertake our contract very soon. Our company is still getting its asphalt from Trinidad, but we hope soon to get it from Venezuela. The long drawn out controversy about the Venezuela asphalt is still in the courts, but we may be able to obtain material from there before long."

Patent Office History.

The preparation of a complete history of the patent office has just been begun under an order of Commissioner of Patents Frederick I. Allen, which directs that Principal Examiners Campbell, Kinnaird, Newton, Sewall and Witherspoon, with the chief of the issue and gazette division, Mr. Babson, shall elect a chairman, who shall co-operate with the chief clerk, E. V. Shepard, in the compilation of its material, the appointment of an editor to write the book and the offering of a plan for its publication and distribution. Mr. Witherspoon has been elected chairman.

CARL SCHOFIELD.

She Was the Ghost.

"A certain lady and her family," says Sir Mount Stuart Grant-Duff in his "Diary," "hired a place in Scotland which was haunted by the ghost of a woman who was to be seen constantly at night wandering through the rooms and passages. When the family arrived, the lady was much struck with the place and said, 'I must have been here before, for I know this place so well, only there ought to be two rooms here, and there is only one.'"

"The agent replied that within a few weeks the owner had caused a partition to be taken down and made the two rooms into one. Still the lady was puzzled at her knowledge of the place, till she remembered that it was a house she used to go to in her dreams."

"Well, some time passed, and the agent was up at the house again, when the lady complained that one part of the contract had not been fulfilled. They had hired a house and a ghost for the summer, and no ghost had she seen. The agent replied: 'Of course not, because you are the ghost. We recognized you the moment we saw you.'"

Short and Sweet.

Perhaps one of the shortest courtships was that of an eminent jurist. He was on his way to hold court in a town when he met a young woman returning from market.

"How deep is the creek and what did you get for your butter?" asked the judge.

"Up to the knee and ninepence," was the answer as the girl walked on.

The judge pondered over the sensible brevity of the reply, turned his horse, rode back and overtook her.

"I liked your answer just now," he said, "and I like you. I think you would make a good wife. Will you marry me?"

She looked him over and said, "Yes."

"Then get up behind me, and we will ride to town and be married."

She did get up behind, and they rode to the courthouse and were made one. It is recorded that, brief though the courtship had been, the marriage proved a pre-eminently happy one.

Liked the Samples.

An anecdote which is said to be characteristic of Yorkshire stories is that of a farmer who halted at a wayside inn and called for a quart of ale. He drank it off and called for a second quart. Drinking this, he called for a third quart, having drunk which he said: "T aal's varry fairish. I'll get down an ha' some."

Harry Lehr's Challenge to Mrs. Astor.

Speaking of Lehr, who came to New York poor, but tactful, and walked right into the Four Hundred, this amusing story is told of his first hit. He was the only outsider at this Four Hundred function, at which he was introduced to Mrs. J. J. Astor, and stood in the midst of a number of women who were enthusiastically admiring a white gown that she wore.

More to be kind than anything else she turned to the young man from Baltimore and said laughingly, "Does it please you?"

Now, if he had said "Yes" he wouldn't have attracted her attention in the least.

"I think it has its defects," he drawled quietly.

In that moment, if he had done nothing else, he had made an impression upon one of the leaders of society.

"You see," he continued slowly, while about him there was a gasp of consternation, "its lack of color does not do your complexion justice. Will you add this to your corsage and see the effect?"

He handed her a great red rose from a vase near by. Mrs. Astor happened to agree that he was right, and from no one in a single leap he became some one.—Boston Record.

BLOW AT THE TRUST

Intended by K. of L. Assembly,
No. 66, at Washington.

TO PROCEED AGAINST, KNOX,

To Show Why He Hasn't Enforced
Sherman Law Provisions—Monnett
Retained by Anti-Trust League to Bring Action in Ohio.

Washington, Aug. 9.—District Assembly No. 66, of the Knights of Labor, last night authorized its legislative committee to bring quo warranto proceedings against the attorney general of the United States, to show cause why he has not enforced the provisions of the anti-trust law, known as the Sherman act. This action, which will be instituted today, is aimed at the United States Steel corporation, which will be, it is alleged, operation in violation of the Sherman act. Labor leaders in this city say this will hasten a solution of the strike now in progress.

They say that laws similar or nearly similar to the Sherman law have been enacted in nearly all the states, and in several of them, notably in Ohio and Texas, the county attorneys have the power of the attorney general of the state in quo warranto proceedings and that the Amalgamated association has a large fund on hand with which to institute proceedings similar to those to be begun here.

TEN PERSONS WERE INJURED.

Third Section of an Atlantic City Excursion on B. & O. Ran Into Second Section.

Pittsburg, Aug. 9.—The second section of an Atlantic City excursion train on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad was run into by the third section at Confluence, and 10 persons were injured. None of the injuries are reported to be of a serious nature, except those of Fireman Slamon, who was on the rear engine. He was badly crushed and may die.

The following is the list of injured: P. J. Collins, of Youngstown, right leg badly crushed.

Mrs. P. J. Collins, arm and leg badly bruised.

Two-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Collins, bruised about the body.

J. H. Lewis, of New Castle, arm hurt.

Mrs. J. H. Lewis, head injured and left arm sprained.

A. G. Shaw, of No. 6208 Butler street, Pittsburg, badly cut about the head.

Miss Helen Lemont, of No. 37 Lorain street, Pittsburg, injured about the head.

Miss Dora Hartzell, of New Castle, both limbs bruised.

John C. Stillwagon, superintendent of the Conneville water works, injured about the head and crushed.

Fireman Slamon, cut and bruised over the body.

Carried Some to Higher Level—U. S. Steel Ended About a Point Lower.

New York, Aug. 9.—Developments in the stock market Thursday favored operators for the long account and the demand, which was broader than for some time, carried many properties to a substantially higher level. Indications were not wanting to show that traders were attaching more importance to the character of the crop news and the high ratio of railroad earnings. These considerations outweighed the earlier repressive influence on the market by the announcement of the steel strike and stocks were purchased with apparent great show of confidence. Unusual prominence was given to the trading in the United States Steel stocks, owing to the frequency with which large blocks changed hands at a rising scale. Professional operators were inclined to cover shorts in these issues, owing to the resumption of work at some plants and the official announcement of the absorption of the Shelby tube works. When the prices of the steel stocks began to mount upwards and reached a level of 2 1/4 and 2 per cent respectively above Wednesday's close for the common and preferred, the general market kept pace with the movement and exceeded those gains in some instances. There were many interruptions to the general rise during the day by profit taking and short selling by room operators, but the recessions were not very noteworthy, except for the United States Steel stocks, which ended about a point below the best, when a report circulated that a prominent operator was unloading stock purchased at a much lower level. This selling soon affected the other market, but semi-stagnation soon resulted, and the closing dealings showed steadiness. Conspicuous strength was displayed by St. Paul, Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific, Sugar and Lackawanna, which were from 1 1/2 to 5 points higher, and led the gains in their respective groups. The declaration of only the regular dividend on Union Pacific was without effect on the stock, the price, in fact, ruling at 97 1/2, the best price of the day, when the announcement was made. No explanation was made of the rise to 99 1/2 at the close by Missouri Pacific, but it was asserted that a speculative interest was responsible for the movement. Stocks which usually do not attain prominence in the dealings attracted some attention Thursday, owing to the material character of their advances, the list including Great Northern preferred, General Electric, Consolidated Gas, Hocking Valley, Colorado and Southern first preferred, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis, St. Lawrence and Adirondack and Lake Erie and Western, which were 2 to 5 points higher. Monetary conditions were viewed in a favorable light owing to the steady gain by the banks on treasury operations.

PEOPLE OF THE DAY

Views of Consumption Specialist.
Professor Robert Koch, the famous German scientist whose investigations of the dreaded malady of tuberculosis have been watched with deep interest for years, was the most prominent figure at the recent British tuberculosis congress. Professor Koch's address before the congress was one of the notable events of that gathering of especially able men, but he did not find all those present in entire agreement with his views. For instance, the professor's assertion that there is little if any danger to the human race from bovine tuberculosis was combated by Earl

Spenser and other famous scientists. But it seems that Professor Koch's declaration that tuberculosis is not hereditary is the final word on this question. For some years the leading physicians of the world have been adopting this opinion. The professor said in his address that the cause of the spread of consumption was the sputum of those suffering from the malady, and he advocated isolation of all patients in free hospitals.

At Johnson's Successor.

Robert E. Wright, who has been brought into public view as the probable successor of the late Albert L. Johnson, the deceased president of the Lehigh Traction company, is a lawyer, banker and business organizer of Allentown, whose fame extends far beyond the city of his home. Mr. Wright was born in Allentown on Feb. 15, 1848, his father having been a prominent lawyer. Mr. Wright, after his admission to the bar in 1868, joined with his father in the legal business, but soon became conspicuous in the development of industrial and financial enterprises. In 1886 he became president of the Allentown National bank, one of the leading and successful establishments of its kind in the Lehigh valley. He also served as the professional adviser of the Lehigh Valley, the Reading and the New Jersey Central railroad companies. Lately he has been associated with the "Johnson syndicate," in which the famous Cleveland brothers were leaders, in trolley development. His election to the head of the Lehigh Valley traction enterprise would be a normal and natural continuation of his recent and past activities.

He Sails Through the Air.

"He sails through the air with the greatest of ease." But this time it isn't on "his flying trapeze." M. Santos-Dumont, the Brazilian aeronaut, who is in Paris trying to win the Deutsch $20,000 prize for a flying machine that will travel at least ten meters a second and be under the control of the operator, has made several very interesting and partially satisfactory trials. He has sailed his machine from the Aero club grounds at St. Cloud to and around the Eiffel tower and part of the way back, when his power was exhausted. Santos-Dumont is confident that he will soon be able to exceed all former tests and that before the year ends he will have won the prize.

There were many interruptions to the general rise during the day by profit taking and short selling by room operators, but the recessions were not very noteworthy, except for the United States Steel stocks, which ended about a point below the best, when a report circulated that a prominent operator was unloading stock purchased at a much lower level. This selling soon affected the other market, but semi-stagnation soon resulted, and the closing dealings showed steadiness. Conspicuous strength was displayed by St. Paul, Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific, Sugar and Lackawanna, which were from 1 1/2 to 5 points higher, and lead the gains in their respective groups. The declaration of only the regular dividend on Union Pacific was without effect on the stock, the price, in fact, ruling at 97 1/2, the best price of the day, when the announcement was made. No explanation was made of the rise to 99 1/2 at the close by Missouri Pacific, but it was asserted that a speculative interest was responsible for the movement. Stocks which usually do not attract prominence in the dealings attracted some attention Thursday, owing to the material character of their advances, the list including Great Northern preferred, General Electric, Consolidated Gas, Hocking Valley, Colorado and Southern first preferred, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis, St. Lawrence and Adirondack and Lake Erie and Western, which were 2 to 5 points higher. Monetary conditions were viewed in a favorable light owing to the steady gain by the banks on treasury operations.

PEOPLE OF THE DAY

Views of Consumption Specialist.
Professor Robert Koch, the famous German scientist whose investigations of the dreaded malady of tuberculosis have been watched with deep interest for years, was the most prominent figure at the recent British tuberculosis congress. Professor Koch's address before the congress was one of the notable events of that gathering of especially able men, but he did not find all those present in entire agreement with his views. For instance, the professor's assertion that there is little if any danger to the human race from bovine tuberculosis was combated by Earl

Spenser and other famous scientists. But it seems that Professor Koch's declaration that tuberculosis is not hereditary is the final word on this question. For some years the leading physicians of the world have been adopting this opinion. The professor said in his address that the cause of the spread of consumption was the sputum of those suffering from the malady, and he advocated isolation of all patients in free hospitals.

Al Johnson's Successor.

Robert E. Wright, who has been brought into public view as the probable successor of the late Albert L. Johnson, the deceased president of the Lehigh Traction company, is a lawyer, banker and business organizer of Allentown, whose fame extends far beyond the city of his home. Mr. Wright was born in Allentown on Feb. 15, 1848, his father having been a prominent lawyer. Mr. Wright, after his admission to the bar in 1868, joined with his father in the legal business, but soon became conspicuous in the development of industrial and financial enterprises. In 1886 he became president of the Allentown National bank, one of the leading and successful establishments of its kind in the Lehigh valley. He also served as the professional adviser of the Lehigh Valley, the Reading and the New Jersey Central railroad companies. Lately he has been associated with the "Johnson syndicate," in which the famous Cleveland brothers were leaders, in trolley development. His election to the head of the Lehigh Valley traction enterprise would be a normal and natural continuation of his recent and past activities.

"He sails through the air with the greatest of ease." But this time it isn't on "his flying trapeze." M. Santos-Dumont, the Brazilian aeronaut, who is in Paris trying to win the Deutsch $20,000 prize for a flying machine that will travel at least ten meters a second and be under the control of the operator, has made several very interesting and partially satisfactory trials. He has sailed his machine from the Aero club grounds at St. Cloud to and around the Eiffel tower and part of the way back, when his power was exhausted. Santos-Dumont is confident that he will soon be able to exceed all former tests and that before the year ends he will have won the prize.

Steered Straight.

"If I thought that any girl would accept me," casually remarked the bashful Mr. Dolyers, "I'd propose tomorrow."

"Why not this evening?" asked Miss Fosdick coyly.

First Public Pianist.

Of all the myriads who play the piano how many know that "Tom Bowling" Dibdin was the first man who played the instrument in public? That was in 1767, and the feat was performed at the first night of "The Beggar's Opera."—Invention.

Ants can stand extremes of heat and cold. Forty-eight hours' exposure to frost will not kill them, and one sort has been observed to build its nest in chimneys in a blacksmith's forge.
